

Mrs. Margie Pfeiffer, waived preliminary hearing on a charge of conspiracy to murder her husband when she appeared in municipal court in Oconomowoc. The mother of two children is flanked by her attorney, Charles Herro, left, and Mrs. Fran Stoecker, jail matron. Mrs. Pfeiffer was alleged to have plotted with Edward Dunn, 43, Milwaukee, to kill her husband, Clyde. Dunn was charged with attempted murder.

Laos Troops Face Major Offensive

Red Forces Overrun Outposts as Units Strike Near Headquarters

Vientiane, Laos.—Laotian government troops threw up a defense line against advancing communist rebels to day only 12 miles from Sam Neua, the royal army's military headquarters in northern Laos.

Red forces since Sunday have overrun lightly manned outposts. Advance units were reported within 12 to 18 miles of the town of Sam Neua in what shaped up as a major offensive.

"It's classic warfare, not guerrilla tactics," defense Secretary Phoumi Nosavan told newsmen.

Hold At All Costs
He charged that the attackers included at least one battalion of regular North Viet Nam troops, from Laos' communist-ruled neighbor to the east.

"We intend to hold Sam Neua at all costs," Phoumi declared. "To let it go would be a convincing argument to the world that the Pathet Lao were reestablished in their old domain."

A spokesman for the Laotian defense department said headquarters in Vientiane has lost all radio communication with the rebel - threatened northern areas.

The spokesman said communist troops had probably captured or knocked out military transmitters in the Sam Neua area.

If true this would indicate further rebel advances. There was a possibility, however, that the defense department

State Senator Seriously Ill

Madison.—Sen Horace W. Wilkie, D-Madison, was reported in serious condition in a hospital today. Physicians would neither confirm nor deny reports that the 42-year-old lawmaker had suffered a stroke.

Wilkie became ill Wednesday in his downtown law office and employees summoned an ambulance. The senator's private physician said Wilkie had been ill for about three days.

Wilkie is assistant minority floor leader of the senate.

FBI Captures Another Of 'Most Wanted' Men

Philadelphia.—A man you would get me," said James Francis Duffy yesterday when FBI agents arrested him in a Philadelphia rooming house. Duffy, who had been on the list of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was unnamed.

The 51-year-old ex-convict was sought in the armed robbery of the Drexelbrook Inn in suburban Drexel Hill on March 24, 1958.

Quiet Burial Predicted for Diversion Bill

Measure Returned To Committee; Supporters Glum

Washington.—A quiet burial for a bill to permit Chicago to take more water from Lake Michigan was forecast today by one of its top backers.

Supporters were glum about prospects of retrieving the bill from the senate foreign relations committee, where the senate sent it Wednesday night by a 54-34 vote.

Bury the Bill
It was Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., leader of the fight to win senate approval for the proposal, who predicted the committee would proceed to bury the bill.

He noted that Sens. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., and Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, ardent opponents of the bill, are also members of the foreign relations committee.

Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien, D-Ill., author of the bill who has steered it or similar legislation through the house four times, commented resignedly to a newsmen:

"Well, what more can you do? I've given up on those senators."

Tried Again?
O'Brien declined to be pinned down on whether he would give up the long struggle to get more water for Chicago's sewage disposal needs. He there have reports that he will not try again if the measure fails to clear congress this year.

The bill would allow Chicago to withdraw an additional 1,000 cubic feet of Lake Michigan water a second for a one-year trial period.

Legion Urged to Allay Prejudice

New York.—The American Legion's new national commander, Martin B. McNeally, says the Legion should be in the forefront in promoting brotherhood and should be the leader in allaying prejudice.

He made the statement in promising action to have racial restrictions lifted by the legion's fun-making organization, the 40 et 8.

The 40 et 8 limits its membership to whites and American Indians. The Legion has no racial restrictions.

He said a legal examination of the 40 et 8's racial restrictions is now being made. He said he will appoint a committee to meet with the group "to discuss and clarify international situation which may prove of concern to the legion."

Committee Agrees to Work For State Sales Tax Law

Madison.—The Wisconsin Committee for tax revision said today it had reached agreement to work for passage of a three per cent sales tax at the November session of the legislature.

The group represents the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, the Wisconsin Manufacturer's Association of Manufacturers, the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce and the Special Taxpayers Committee on the State Budget.

"Adoption of the plan will be urged at the November session of the legislature as a means of balancing the state executive budget while providing the income and property tax relief needed to strengthen Wisconsin's position in the active competition now being carried on by all states for industrial development," the announcement said.

The plan calls for the tax on consumer purchases of tangible goods and payments for lodging of transients and tourists. Exempted under the proposed formula would be raw materials used in farming and manufacturing and items now subject to taxes, like beer, cigarettes, gasoline and liquor.

The committee estimated that total collections would come to $150 million a year. Of this total, it said, half would be used to reduce taxes on real estate and the remaining amount to balance the state budget and increase exemptions for taxpayers.

Regional planning for the Fox Cities is teetering on the edge of reality. Appleton's council voted, 13 to 7, and Neenah's unanimously last night in favor of it.

Last in a series of three proposals from an Indianapolis, Ind., planning firm comes before the complete Fox Valley Regional Planning commission tonight. The Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates' proposal would take three years, cost $140,000 and includes a local planner's office.

More than a rumor, yet confirmed by no one, is the hiring of the commission's planning director, Clarence A. Hammond, by the Schellie firm. It is said, and no one will say it for publication, that Hammond would be hired to direct the local office under Schellie's supervision.

If true, the move would eliminate some opposition developing against having an "outside firm coming in" and offering "little day-to-day help" for several members of the 10 municipalities on the commission.

Considerable Opposition
Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon has an Aug. 28 letter from Schellie stating that Hammond is "number one on my list for consideration for the job (of director)."

Bayorgeon Aug. 24 wrote Schellie inquiring about Hammond's fate. It is understood that Schellie and Hammond are to meet in Neenah between 3:30 and 4 p.m. today to iron out possible hiring of Hammond by Schellie.

However, there is considerable opposition to Hammond, which has been developing for the last several years. Last spring, Charles Wood, commission chairman, asked for a motion requesting Hammond's withdrawal. The motion was defeated by a 4-3 vote.

The question is pressing, Zuehlke told the council in a letter, because College avenue is scheduled for extension.

Should part of Appleton's College avenue be transformed into a shoppers' mall? The question was posed to the city council Wednesday by the chamber of commerce.

Chamber President Gus A. Zuehlke was frank about it. The chamber doesn't know. But, it suggests the city and the chamber find out together—during a tour of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Toledo, Ohio.

Kalamazoo recently inaugurated a permanent shoppers' mall in part of its downtown section and Toledo recently gave the mall idea a 40-day trial.

The question is pressing, Zuehlke told the council in a letter, because College avenue is scheduled for extension.

The measure then will go down for effective legislation.

The senate leadership hurriedly scheduled the bill for debate. But it also—and this is the part which caused the long and difficult conference—beefs up the Taft-Hartley law on such bitterly disputed points as secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

In the end, the conferees accepted the basic pattern of the broader Landrum-Griffin house bill on the Taft-Hartley changes in the seventh and final title.

But Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and the other senate Democratic conferees succeeded in getting into the measure limitations on the new Taft-Hartley provisions aimed at protecting legitimate union rights.

On the first six titles dealing with internal union procedures, the compromise follows the framework of the senate measure originally worked out by Kennedy last year. But some house changes were written into these sections.

The compromise won almost unanimous praise from congress members on both sides of the dispute over the bill. But there were reservations by those most sympathetic to labor's position.

The bill was almost sure to be disappointing to labor. The AFL-CIO had criticized the measure in the form it passed the senate, and strongly assailed the Landrum-Griffin version.

Dissenting Vote
One dissenting senate voice came from Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), a conferee who refused to sign the conference agreement. He said the final bill contained "unfair and unreasonable procedures."

All other conferees signed except Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky.). He said he would decide today whether to do so.

Expect House To Vote Fuel Tax Increase

Funds Needed to Keep Highway Program Going

Washington.—The house, despite obvious reluctance, was expected today to vote a temporary penny increase in the federal gasoline tax to keep the interstate highway building program going.

The bill was sent to the floor on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, with no opportunity for revision.

For car owners, the bill would add another $1,050,000,000 to motoring taxes for the next 21 or 22 months until July 1, 1961, by raising the gasoline tax from three to four cents a gallon.

Avert Stoppage
Its enactment was called necessary to avert a construction stoppage on the 41,000-mile network of super highways planned to link the nation's principal cities by 1972.

The highway building emergency stems from a construction speedup ordered by congress last year as an anti-recession move. This drew $1,600,000,000 from highway construction funds without additional revenues to offset the larger spending.

March or be Fined New York Painters Ordered by Union

New York.—It's march in the Labor Day parade or be fined, about 8,500 painters, decorators and paperhangers have been told by their union.

The edict was announced yesterday by Martin Rarback, secretary-treasurer of the union. He even prescribed the parade uniform—white shirt, dark trousers and a white cap.

Then There'll be No War, President Says in Visit To North Atlantic Council

Paris.—President Eisenhower today gave the west a blueprint for peace: Refuse to retreat one inch from principle and stay flexible tactically.

"Then there will be no war. There will be peace," the president told the North Atlantic Council during a surprise visit.

The president sandwiched the quick visit to NATO headquarters into a tight schedule of talks with western leaders and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Arising fresh and apparently relaxed after a late white-tie state dinner with de Gaulle, Eisenhower pitched vigorously into the last day of his European tour.

His appearance at the Atlantic council was designed to calm the fears of the smaller powers that his coming meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev spelled a lessening of their roles in NATO.

Matter of Spirit
"NATO is a matter of spirit, of determination to work as partners and to preserve the ideals we all cherish," the 68-year-old president said.

"If we are firm among ourselves, if we refuse to retreat one inch from principle, if we remain flexible so far as tactics are involved, if we give NATO the same patriotic, deep devotion we give to each of our own nations, then, there will be no war. There will be peace."

"The United States seeks no position in NATO except that of an equal position, ready to work with all member nations regardless of their size."

This reference was aimed at both the smaller NATO powers and General de Gaulle, who is giving Eisenhower a spectacular welcome in France as a demonstration of the nation's grandeur and

Call Off Search For Remains of Bomber's Crew

Wiesbaden, Germany.—The U.S. air force today gave up its search for the remains of nine crewmen of a World War II "ghost bomber."

The American fliers parachuted into the Libyan desert from their B24 Liberator bomber 16 years ago after blasting Naples, Italy.

Their plane was found last spring by a team of geologists. It had apparently made a pilotless belly-landing on the hard-packed sand 440 miles southeast of the Libyan port city of Benghazi.

The bomber was practically intact. It bore no combat scars. Its only damage had been in the landing. Log book, instruments and radio were untouched. Water jugs were full and flight gear was hanging from racks inside the plane.

Border Crisis Won't Keep India's Menon From UN Conference

New Delhi.—Prime Minister Nehru said today India is dealing adequately with its border crisis and can spare Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon for the coming UN general assembly.

There is no reason Menon should give up his plans to head the Indian delegation, Nehru told parliament.

Family Inherits Grandma's Money—'Locusts' Want Share

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: My wife's mother lived with us for 12 years. She helped with the house work and cooking and was wonderful with the children. We never considered her a burden. The only time I became slightly annoyed with her was when Ann Landers she'd take the page with your column out of the paper and forget to put it back.

My wife has two sisters and a brother. They never offered to help with Grandma's expenses. We bought her clothes, paid her doctor bills and saw to it that she had a little money in her purse. The last year of her life was expensive. She was ill a great deal.

Grandma's will was probated last week. We didn't know she had anything. To our surprise she owned modest amounts of stocks and War Bonds from both World War I and II.

The estate is not large by some standards, but it's a lot of money to people like us. Now the Big Question: Grandma left everything to us. The brother and sisters are closing in. They say Grandma was "all there" and it's up to us to do the "right thing." So—Ann Landers, what is the right thing? Shall we let them share in Grandma's money?—B and C

Dear B and C: The money isn't Grandma's, it's yours. She left it to you—all of it. If you want to share your money with a swarm of locusts, go ahead.

DEAR ANN: What do you do about friends who borrow books and forget to return them? (Sometimes, when they do come back, several pages are folded over, passage are underlined in ink and coffee-cup circles appear here and there.)

Do you suggest such friends

buy you a new book?—THE SIMP

Dear Simp: If this happens more than once with the same slob—I mean friend—then you deserve it.

People who forget to return books, or return them in poor condition are bores—and their name is legion. Don't ask for a new book. If they aren't decent enough to bring back the old one they'll never buy you a new one. Just inform them when they want another book that the lending library has gone out of business—and why.

DEAR ANN: I came from a small town and grew up with a fine girl I'll call Molly. Before I left for the service I gave her a ring. She wrote to me every day and I wrote whenever I felt like it, which was about twice a month.

When she began to describe the things she was buying for our home I felt like a dog because I'd already started to date Anita, who lived in the town where I was stationed.

I don't know how to explain this, but before I knew it, Anita and I were married. My mother and dad are no longer living but I have two brothers back in the home town and I haven't told them yet because of Molly.

I know if I don't tell them soon the news will leak. To make matters worse, I think I love Molly and not Anita. What shall I do? G.I.J.

Dear G.I.J.: What do you mean "Before you knew it you were married to Anita"? Did you just look in the church—and there you were, getting married?

Write Molly at once. And now that you're married, make the best of it. Personally I think Molly is lucky. You sound like a double-dealing, faithless heel. It's Anita who got stuck.

Cutting a Biscuit Roll before baking with an ordinary piece of string sounds so simple any clever housewife could have thought of it. However, the idea originated in the testing rooms of food experts and has been proven efficient and easy.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

The Shape's the Thing!

In Fall fashions, the shape's the thing... an idealized feminine shape, with a lifted and rounded bosom, an emphatically-marked waist, and a gently-curved hip and thigh.

To carry off this shaping, a woman's figure will have to conform closely to it. Any fleshy disparities will show, and real plain. Happily, they can be decreased by a knowing selection of foundation garments.

New foundations are designed to shape the figure into fashion's mold, line for line. And if trimming is your aim, here's what to look for:

In brassieres—high, rounded construction with two or three section cups; precise-fit features, such as adjustable tabs between cups and criss-crossed midriff bands.

In girdles—built-in waistline control, via an elastic inner band or semi-attached cinch; hip control in the form of double or bias back panels, hip/thigh control of shaped bands, rather than straight panels.

Never fear, none of those innovations makes for constriction. In fact, each is made to contour with a feather touch.

Midriff Slimmers

To solve that riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, Midriff Slimmers. It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Reader May Call About Invitations

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is to be married very shortly. The invitations were sent out several weeks ago and all but a very few have replied. I would like to know whether or not they are coming as we are having a sit-down dinner and are being charged so much per person. Would it be proper to write each one of them a short note asking them to please let me know if they are coming?

Answer: You might telephone to those who have not answered and say that as you are afraid some of your invitations may have gone astray, you wish to make sure that they have received yours and as an afterthought leaflet E-13, entitled, "Let's ask if they are coming."

Lapse of Memory

Dear Mrs. Post: What can one do when faced with the problem of having to introduce two people and the name of one of them has completely slipped your mind? I think this is a most embarrassing situation. Is there a tactful way to handle this situation?

Answer: I agree that not being able to think of the name of one of two people you have to introduce is indeed one of the most embarrassing situations imaginable. You can try saying to the "nameless" one, "Oh, don't you know Mrs. Smith?" hoping that she will be understanding and tactful enough to announce her own name. If this fails, it may be necessary to say that you must be losing your memory because for the moment you can't, to save your life, remember her name.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If sure that they have received you would like to have her theirs, and as an afterthought leaflet E-13, entitled, "Let's ask if they are coming."

Give A Shower, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., one do when faced with the problem of having to introduce two people and the name of one of them has completely slipped your mind. I think this is a most embarrassing situation. Is there a tactful way to handle this situation?

Opening lead: Six of hearts.

Declarer bobbled the ball momentarily on this hand but still had to make the hand due to a "miracle" that occurred. The final contract actually is unlucky in that every card is wrong. However, it should be stated that trumps did divide or the hand would have been beaten.

West led the six of hearts and the king won the trick in dummy. A club was led from dummy and South went up with the king as West took the ace. West now switched to a small diamond. South now was looking at two possible diamond losers, a club loser and a certain spade loser. It appeared that everything hinged upon West holding the 10 of diamonds along with either the king or queen. Declarer ducked the diamond and East won the 10 and continued with the king of diamonds which was taken with the ace in dummy. Now see what developed.

Declarer led the ace of trump from dummy and followed with a small trump to the king in his hand — both defenders following. The second heart was played to the ace in dummy and a small heart was played — East discarding a small club as declarer ruffed in his hand.

The queen of clubs was cashed and a small club was played — West's jack fell as declarer trumped it in dummy. Dummy's last heart was played and East was embarrassed. He had the nine of clubs, the queen of diamonds and the queen of trumps. No matter what card he threw, he could not beat the hand. If he ruffed, South would discard his diamond. If he threw the club, declarer's eight of clubs then would be good and dummy's last diamond then would be thrown on the eight of clubs. If he threw a diamond, the diamond in dummy would become high. So, reaching for the nearest bottle of poison, East conceded.

Our Children Child Needs Solitude, But Also Supervision

BY ANGELO PATRI

Letting children alone is all right at the right time. Aloneness, periods of activity, of idleness, uninterrupted by the interference of others is essential to the mental and physical welfare of every body and that, naturally, includes children. They must have time out from the pressures of school and family. If this is not allowed them they are likely to become confused and fatigued, with unhappy results.

But, no matter how good a method, how accurate the pattern of child-training, it has its limitations. Children cannot bring themselves up successfully to live in our society. They need leadership, guidance, discipline as occasion demands. This means that there are times when they are not to be let alone but be under wise supervision. That is only plain common sense.

A small child pulls the cat's tail. His punishment is likely to be swift and direct and his mother is likely to tell him that he is to expect just that if he repeats his mistake. She warns him against that. All through life he will be tempted to pull life's tail—the cat that tempts us all to take it by the tail—but we hope that by warning him, by highlighting his experiences by checking his waywardness we can instill some degree of understanding of life's way with him and save him some of the worst it affords. When we do that when he is occupied within safety limits.

Checked sharply

There are times when authority must be enforced. The child who abuses the family pet must be checked firmly. The boy who goes out in the evening without permission, without so much as saying where he is going must be stopped where he is, promptly.

The girl who helps herself to her mother's lipstick, the boy who takes his father's neckties, must be stopped and instructed to respect other people's property and their

St. Norbert's Adds Three To Faculty

De Prie — Addition of three new priest members to the faculty of St. Norbert college and leave of absence for advanced study for a fourth have been announced by the Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem., college president. All three are members of the Norbertine order.

Two of the new faculty members, both of whom will instruct courses in religion, are recent recipients of doctorate degrees in sacred theology. They are the Revs. Samuel D. Jadin, O. Praem., and Xavier G. Colavechio, O. Praem., both 1952 graduates of St. Norbert ordained in Rome in 1955. Father Jadin completed his studies at Gregorian university, Rome, and Father Colavechio at Catholic university, Washington, D.C.

The third new faculty member is the Rev. Edwin A. Demerath, O. Praem., who will be a member of the history department staff. Since 1944 he has been a history instructor at Premontre High school, Green Bay. He has his master's degree in history from Villanova university, Philadelphia.

The Rev. Vincent A. Conway, O. Praem., has received a year's leave of absence to complete studies for his doctorate in philosophy. He will leave for Rome this month to study at the Angelic institute there. A 1950 graduate of St. Norbert and for two years a member of the philosophy department, he holds his Ph.D. degree from Angelic. He will rejoin the college faculty next fall.

For Mature Figures.

A slender look can be achieved even by a size 18. A neat trick? True, but the magic of mature sizes, Charles Montaigne, handles it with ease. One of his slimming secrets is the diagonal line continuing from the collar down to the two button tab at the waist. Flowing from beneath the tab is a side drape, that molds and minimizes hips. A seam at each side and three in back of the skirt do more of the same magic. The collar and hip pocket are top-stitched. Choose cotton, silk, rayon, shantung, silk or wool jersey, faille, lightweight wool or wool crepe. From this size chart select the one size best size for you.

Virtue Sours, Pastors Told

President Knight Welcomes Group Visiting Appleton

"Not all the evil in the world is due to bad people, for even virtues turn sour when carried to extremes, used for the wrong objective, or when they are divorced from love," said Dr. W. V. Middleton, Philadelphia, Wednesday evening at the Wisconsin Methodist Pastors' school in the First Methodist church.

Dr. Middleton is general secretary of the division of national missions of the board of missions of the Methodist church.

Dr. Douglas Knight, president of Lawrence college, and Dr. Dwight Loder, president of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill., brought greetings to the school Wednesday.

Record Enrollment

Dr. Knight thanked the ministers of the Wisconsin Area for their support of Lawrence college and encouraged them to become acquainted with the college. Dr. Loder, president of the largest seminary for training Methodist ministers, announced that this year's enrollment at Garrett will exceed last year's record level.

Dr. Vernon Middleton said, "the mission of the church must have definite and not general objectives. The mission of the church is communicating the good news of the gospel to all people, interpreting the meaning of the gospel for all of life and demonstrating the availability of resources for those who wish to

Dr. Robert Bodine, pastor of the First Methodist church in Peoria, the largest Methodist church in Illinois, will address the school in its closing session Friday noon.

James Purdy Authors Novel; Was Teacher At Lawrence for Decade

James Purdy, who was assistant professor of Spanish at Lawrence college from 1949 to 1956, has authored a novel which is coming from Farrar, Straus and Cudahy press in September.

The novel, "Malcolm," has been described as "the wildly funny story of an amiable young chap with a flair for bizarre adventures and even more bizarre friends." Another critic has termed it "a Horatio Alger story in reverse."

Purdy's first book of short stories, "The Color of Darkness," received much praise. Dorothy Parker has hailed Purdy as "a striking new American talent, sure and sharp and powerful."

Since leaving Lawrence, Purdy has lived in the New York area and has won several foundation grants in support of his writing. He now lives in Brooklyn Heights.

'No Third Choice,' Soviet Premier Declares in Magazine, Adenauer Called Stumbling Block to Peace

New York — Nikita S. Khrushchev says the west must fall in with the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence of communism and capitalism or face "the most destructive war in history."

sive rebuilding in the next few years.

Could Cut Costs

A mall, he said today, could be expected to cut rebuilding costs considerably. The big cost in providing a mall, he added, comes from making sure there are enough parking spaces available on the perimeter.

Victor I. Gruen and Associates, Detroit planners for H. C. Prange company, Zuehlke recalled, some years ago called College avenue ideal for an eventual 8-block-long mall. Appleton would be better suited for a mall than Green Bay, which also is looking into the idea, because its business district is on one wide street, Zuehlke said.

Mayor Mitchell referred the tour suggestion to the board of public works for a recommendation.

Loses Way Home From School on First Day, Couldn't Read Signs

South Bend, Ind. — Master Earl Michael Jenkins, aged 5, laid the blame on inadequate education after he disappeared for several hours on his way home from his first day at school.

He got off the school bus from Clay Township, suburban South Bend school, at the wrong stop.

A state trooper finally found him near Niles, Mich., more than 5 miles from home.

Earl complained to his mother, Mrs. Earl M. Jenkins, that after a full day in school, "I still couldn't read those signs along the road."

Officials Seek End to Rash Of Stabbing

Mayor Orders Full Strength for Police, Governor Calls Talks

New York — Mayor Robert F. Wagner says he will add 1,000 policemen to help stamp out juvenile violence, which has resulted in four murders since Aug. 23.

After police arrested two teenage Puerto Ricans yesterday for murdering two youths in a public playground last Sunday, Wagner said the police department would be brought to its fully authorized strength of 24,508 men.

The mayor directed city budget director Abraham D. Beame to report today on what "sacrifices" may be necessary in other city programs to bolster the police force.

Emergency Talks

In addition to Wagner's city hall meeting, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller holds an emergency conference this morning to discuss with state officials a "more effective coordination" of all agencies in reducing youthful crime.

There has been official talk of a curfew for youth on New York streets. In Washington yesterday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) urged consideration of such a measure.

Rockefeller invited FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to attend a meeting of city and state officials next Tuesday. Hoover said a previous commitment would make it impossible for him to be here.

Booked on homicide charges in the playground murders were "Cape Man" Salvatore Agron, 16, and "Umbrella Man" Antonio Luis Hernandez, 17.

Agron has admitted wielding a knife during the senseless slayings of Robert Young and Anthony Krzesinski, both 16, but he would not admit responsibility for any deaths.

No Negroes Try to Enroll in Montgomery

Montgomery, Ala. — Schools reopened in Montgomery today with Negro leaders advising their people to make no attempt to enroll in white classrooms at this time.

The executive committee of the Montgomery Improvement association, has taken the first step toward an integration fight, but said no planned effort to enter white schools would be made now.

A formal request to the city-county school board to announce an integration plan was made public last week. It mentioned the possibility of a court suit as a "last resort."

Paris Throng Stages Pageant of Welcome for Eisenhower Visit

Paris — Dwight D. Eisenhower the diplomat rode down the Champs Elysee yesterday. A million or more Parisians cut loose in frenzied enthusiasm equaled only on the liberation of the city from the Germans by the forces of Dwight D. Eisenhower the general.

Choking with emotion, the president gave his thanks in his halting French: "Je vous aime, tous — I love you, all."

"We love you, too, Ike," came the thunderous response, in spirit if not in those exact words.

Polignant Memories
For Eisenhower, on another mission in a quest of peace, it was a day poignant with memories.

And the French put on a show of pageantry to make it a day to remember for the first American president to visit France since Woodrow Wilson after World War I.

stoppage, asked congress to raise the gas tax 14 cents a gallon for the next five years to keep the program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

House leaders balked at first, but eventually compromised at a one-cent boost in motor fuel taxes until July 1, 1961.

For another three years following expiration of the tax increase, an additional $24 billion would be diverted to highway construction from the general operating funds of the government.

These revenues would come from allocating to highway construction one-half the present 10 per cent manufacturers automobile excise tax, and two-thirds the present 8 per cent excise on auto parts and accessories.

Additional total revenues over the five year period would approximate $33 billion — enough to keep the interstate program nearly on schedule.

8 Perish in Alaskan Crash

Fairbanks, Alaska — Lost in a storm and running low on fuel. That was the last terse report from the pilot of a chartered plane that crashed in central Alaska Tuesday night carrying eight persons, including six girls, to their deaths.

The girls, all in their early 20s or late teens, had been selling magazine subscriptions and were homeward bound when the twin-engine C-45 plunged to the ground near McGrath, 300 miles southwest of here.

Nelson Vetoes Pair of Bills
One Would Have Allowed Retired Judges to Return

Madison — Two bills which would have allowed retired county judges to be temporarily reappointed and added a second branch to the Walworth County court were vetoed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson today.

The retired county judges would have been granted all the authority and jurisdiction of the court under appointment by the elected judge.

"Our Supreme court has held that all judicial jurisdiction is vested in our courts and that the constitution requires the judges for these courts to be elected by the people," Nelson said in his veto of the measure.

Nelson noted that the constitution has been amended to permit retired circuit judges and Supreme court justices to serve temporarily on the circuit bench but said the change did not apply to other judicial areas.

Hunger Leads to Arrest of Youth
Sheboygan — Hunger led to the capture Wednesday of a 15-year-old Sheboygan boy who had fled from the Wisconsin School for Boys at Waukesha Monday.

The boy had been hiding in the garage at his parents' home but they did not know he was there. A neighbor saw him picking pears from his tree and called police.

House Fails to Override Ike's Veto by One Vote

Now Reluctantly Ready to Pass Scaled-Down Public Works Bill

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington — Failing by one vote to override a veto of a bigger bill, the house was reluctantly ready today to how to President Eisenhower's wishes and pass a scaled-down public works measure. Scheduled for passage Friday or Monday was a bill appropriating $1,163,967,208 to finance several hundred river and harbor and flood control projects in almost every state in the union. Left out were 67 projects in 32 states involving an initial outlay of $51,510,600 and an estimated overall cost of $804,526,600.

It was inclusion of these projects in an earlier bill that caused President Eisenhower to veto it because they were not provided for in his budget program.

The house appropriations committee meets today to whip the compromise bill into shape after the house yesterday fell one vote short of the two-thirds needed to override the veto of the $1,216,000,000 measure. The vote was 274-138, with 263 Democrats and 11 Republicans opposing the president's position and six Democrats and 132 Republicans upholding it.

None Overridden. It was the 144th bill vetoed by the president since he took office, and none of them has been overridden.

The decision to tone-down the bill to meet the president's objections stemmed from a feeling on the part of most house leaders that it would be better to settle for half a loaf than for nothing at all.

This feeling, however, wasn't shared by some senators. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee in charge of public works, insisted on congress sticking to its guns. He said he would seek to add the 67 deleted projects to the new house bill when it gets to the senate, or would attempt to add the entire vetoed measure to a re-assign - aid appropriation bill now before the senate appropriations committee. The latter bill is a presidential pet.

The president couldn't veto the public works section without vetoing the foreign-aid funds. He would have to take it all or reject it all.

Polio Victim Found Hiding In Vacant Home
Whitinsville, Mass. — David Chabot, 12-year-old polio victim missing some 20 hours, was found yesterday hiding in the attic of an unoccupied house about 100 yards from his home.

The boy said he was afraid to go home Tuesday night because he was late after delivering newspapers on his route and making collections.

Young Chabot said he slept in the attic and found food in nearby gardens during the day.

Searchers had combed the woods through the night and most of yesterday for the boy.

Wisconsin Vote Divided on Bill
Washington — Members of the Wisconsin house delegation today were evenly divided in their votes on a motion to override President Eisenhower's veto of the public works appropriations bill.

Voting to override the veto were Reps. Gerald T. Flynn, Robert W. Kastenmeier, Clement J. Zablocki, Henry S. Reus, and Lester R. Johnson. Voting against overriding and to sustain the veto were Reps. Gardner R. Withrow, William K. Van Pelt, Melvin R. Laird, John W. Byrnes and Alvin O'Konski.

Ford Starts Building Economy Car, 2nd of Big Three Underway

Detroit Automakers Do Sharp Turnabout in Their Thinking

BY BEN PHLEGAR

Detroit — The second of the big three's new economy cars went into production today as Ford started building Falcons at Lorain, Ohio.

Chevrolet has been assembling Corvairs at nearby Willow Run since mid-July. Chrysler's Valiant will roll off Detroit assembly lines within another month.

The three cars represent a sharp reversal in thinking by Detroit automakers who have been on a longer-lower-more expensive trend throughout the postwar period.

The Corvair will be the first of the new ones into the marketplace, making its public bow about Oct. 2. The Falcon will go on sale Oct. 8. The Valiant probably will be along about Nov. 14.

Various Statistics
Vital statistics have been released only on the Falcon. It is 15 feet-1 inch long, against 17-4 for a 1959 Ford; 4 feet, 6 1/2 inches high against 4 feet, 8 inches and 5 feet, 10 inches wide against 6 feet, 4 inches. It weighs 2,366 pounds, compared with 3,570 pounds for the lightest 1959 Ford model.

The Corvair will offer America's first rear-engine model, using a flat 6 - cylinder aluminum power plant. Registration weight on test cars in Michigan has been 2,400 pounds.

The 6-cylinder Falcon engine, of cast iron, is rated at 90 horsepower. The Corvair probably will be rated slightly more, as will the Valiant. The Valiant, like the Falcon, is using a cast iron 6-cylinder engine mounted in front.

No Price Announced
No prices have been announced. One report this week said the cheapest stripped Corvair will list at just over $1,800. The Falcon and Valiant will be in the same range. But it will cost the best part of $2,000 to get delivery on any one of them by the time taxes, delivery charges and a minimum number of accessories are included.

All three will offer automatic transmissions as well as straight stick models. Almost none of the other power options, such as power brakes and steering, will be available at least in the beginning. The Falcon will have air conditioning available early in 1960.

Initial production will be limited to 2 and 4-door models with no convertibles and no station wagons until spring. Falcon will have a station wagon; the other two haven't confirmed whether or not they will have one.

Ford claims 30 miles per gallon performance for the Falcon with standard transmission and at least 50 per cent better gas mileage than any current American car with any transmission.

Sales Battle Seen
The sales battle over front versus rear engine is bound to be a hot one. Thursday Ford made these claims for its front mounting: Safety factor in front end collisions; more luggage room in rear than between front-wheels; stability and added economy during winter months due to use of engine coolant in the heater.

Ford engineers say there has to be a gasoline heater in a car like a Corvair which has an air-cooled engine. This heater, they say, will burn one gallon of fuel for every nine gallons burned by the engine. "Free heat" will be one Falcon sales pitch.

Ford estimates the 1960 market for the Falcon, Corvair and Valiant at 750,000 to one million cars. Officials insist these mainly would be additional sales and that the big car sales divisions will not suffer.

This also is the view of General Motors' medium-priced lines. But American Motors and Studebaker-Packard, which have been building the smaller cars, insist the big cars will have to bear the brunt of the sales loss.

Car sales for 1959 in the United States are estimated at slightly more than 6 million. Of this figure some 600,000 will be imported cars, most of them small, and more than 400,000 will be Ramblers and Studebaker Larks, the two domestic smaller cars.

Kastenmeier Wants Firm Stand Against Biological Warfare

Washington — Congress was urged today by Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier (D-Wis.) to affirm this country's long-standing policy not to engage in biological warfare unless these weapons are first used by the enemy.

Kastenmeier said in a house speech the defense department wants to increase appropriations for work on these programs from current appropriations of about $40 million to $125 million.

Kastenmeier said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has said such weapons are a threat to humanity.

This country, Kastenmeier said, is losing the propaganda battle unless it is willing to express publicly a moral national policy on this issue.

Party Features Colorful Food

Cheese, Relishes Give Hot Dogs, Buns New Polka-Dot Touches

Roll back the rugs, dust off the polka records, and plan enough food for healthy and hungry teenage appetites.

This suggested menu for a lively and fun-filled polka party calls for polka hot dogs in polka buns with colorful potato salad and polka cup cakes for dessert. Serve an assortment of relishes, such as carrot and celery sticks, green onion, corn relish and mustard and catsup, and top it off with soft drinks.

To make enough polka hot dogs to serve eight, you will need 16 hot dogs and a loaf of sharp processed cheese. Use a small ball cutter to cut half-spheres in hot dog, in polka pattern. Reserve meat for Polka salad. Using same ball cutter, cut balls of sharp cheese. Stuff hot dogs with cheese.

Heat on grill, being sure to keep cheese side up. Serve on polka buns, with relishes on the side.

For the polka buns, split 16 hot dog buns. Arrange sliced

Apartment Boom Hitting Full Stride

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Wherever you are this weekend, in town or country, look around with an analytical eye, really see the astounding volume and variety of new apartment buildings springing up on every side. You are seeing the biggest upsurge in building of apartment houses in a generation — since the era of the '20s when the apartment house created the face of most American cities.

You are seeing the start of the great building cycle of the '60s, and the renter may dominate the housing market of the next decade just as the suburban homeowner has dominated the housing market of this decade.

Replace Slums

You are seeing luxury apartments go up in place of appalling slums, and on land devoted for years to industrial and commercial enterprises. Middle-income apartments rising in the heart of suburbia. Apartments specifically designed for older folks or for young marrieds, for bachelors or for widows, for the family with babies or for the commuter in revolt.

While the power of the apartment building upswing is news to most of us — who think of any housing boom in terms of explosive expansion in ownership of single-family homes — it is not news to the construction industry or to housing authorities.

Actually, the trend got underway back in 1957. This year, the estimate is 250,000 new apartment units, triple the total in 1950, almost 20 per cent of all new housing construction. In some areas, building is running at 50 per cent of all housing. In sections of the sprawling west coast, apartment building is topping single-family homes.

Rate to Rise

This year's record will be dwarfed by the records of the '60s. In the approaching decade, the forecast is construction of apartments for rent will hit 400,000 to 500,000 a year.

Why?

The number of young men and women in the 18-24 age group will jump during the '60s, as the war and postwar babies reach maturity. Most of these won't want to own homes. They'll prefer the smaller apartments in the ease of renting, the convenience of living in small places within the city.

Adding to the trend will be the general rise in incomes, permitting more and more families to finance a rented apartment in town as well as a home in the country. Spurring it will be the resurgence of the city itself. Aiding will be the increasing appeal of these will have sufficient retirement income to permit them to live independently in their own homes. These too will prefer the ease of renting apartments. By 1965, the number in this age group will exceed 18.5 million, and by 1970 nearing 21 million against 14 million in 1955.

Childless Couples

Finally, the number of couples in the 55-65 age class will climb sharply — from about 14.5 million in 1955 to 17 million in 1965 to almost 19 million in 1970. Their children will have left home, and large numbers will be attracted to homes. They'll prefer the smaller apartments in the ease of renting, the convenience of living in small places within the city.

Adding to the trend will be the general rise in incomes, permitting more and more families to finance a rented apartment in town as well as a home in the country. Spurring it will be the resurgence of the city itself. Aiding will be the increasing appeal of

51 Taverns Petition for 2 a.m. Close

Fifty-one Appleton tavern owners Wednesday petitioned the city council for a 2 a.m. closing during daylight saving time.

President Al Breilrick, of the Outagamie County Tavern League, said a permissive city ordinance should be adopted in time to become effective with start of daylight time next year, the first Sunday in April.

The 51 signers, Breilrick reported, represents two-thirds of the 70 taverns in the city. Some owners were not contacted, he said.

Breilrick's earlier request for passage of an enabling ordinance is pigeon-holed in the welfare and ordinance committee.

Committeemen declined to take action because there remained but two weeks of this year's daylight time in which the 2 a.m. closing would be in effect. They have said they will revive the question sometime over fall and winter.

Depot Hearing Reset Sept. 11

PSC to Hear Arguments About Relocating Stop

The public service commission hearing on changing the location of the Chicago and North Western passenger depot in Appleton will be continued at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 11, in city hall.

The hearing began Aug. 19, but only one witness was called before it was decided to adjourn.

Action to attempt to prove the present Appleton junction depot inadequate and badly located was started by Urban P. Van Susteren, Appleton attorney.

Building Inspector Van Susteren called Willard Van Handel, state building inspector, as his only witness. Van Handel testified about the present depot at the junction, describing improvements made since the depot was moved from downtown.

Passenger service at the downtown location was stopped after frequent traffic tie-ups occurred while trains blocked major downtown streets.

It is expected the Sept. 11 hearing will be the final hearing. A decision will be made later by the public service commission.

Pool Committee Seeks More Information on Use of Site

The city council's swimming pool committee Tuesday called for more information from its consultant, Ralph H. Burke, Inc.

Burke gave the committee two drawings showing how a pool and winter ice rink could be fitted to the Interlake park site. Both schemes would keep the lighted softball field in the park, but one would have required moving it.

Committeemen now want to see two more drawings: One should have the softball diamond removed from the park and the rink and pool fitted to the site.

The other should keep the diamond, but show the ice rink on it in the winter time and use the extra space (over the first two plans) for placement of the pool.

If the diamond is moved, Mayor Mitchell said it would be moved to somewhere in the southwest corner of the city.

The committee also held back on deciding the exact layout of the entrance, lobby, administrative sections and men's and women's dressing rooms, but only minor changes are to be shown on the next drawings.

Mayor Mitchell said the entire facility will be heated so it can be used as a recreational center in the off-season.

Scout Leaders To Take Courses

East District Adult Advisers to Study At Kaukauna School

Training sessions for East district Boy Scout and Cub Scout leaders will begin next week at Kaukauna High school.

A series for cubmasters, assistant cubmasters, den mothers and pack committeemen will begin at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, in Room 120, the art room, at the high school and will continue for six Wednesdays.

A course for Boy Scout leaders, including scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, and troop committeemen will be held at 7:15 p.m. Tuesdays for seven weeks, beginning Sept. 15 in the high school lunch room.

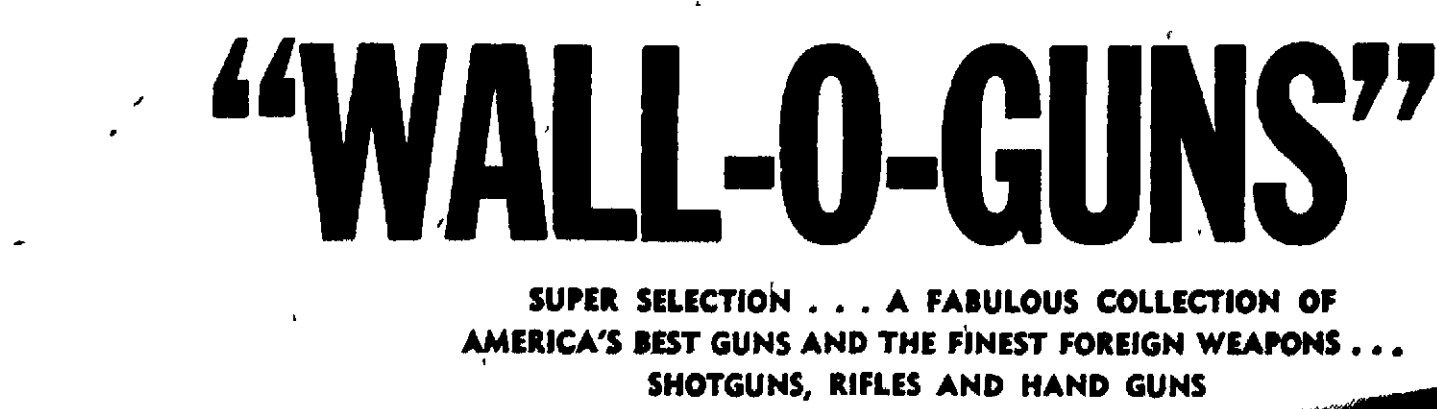

Explorer leaders, including advisers, associate advisers and post committee members will attend three sessions on consecutive Monday evenings beginning at 7:15 p.m. Sept. 14 in the lunch room.

The fall series of training session is the first set up by the Valley council on a district basis. A similar series is planned for spring.

Among the course leaders and teachers for the fall semester are:

Charles Schaefer, Kaukauna, course leader for cubbing, who took a week's training course at Philmont scout reservation, Cimmaron, N.M.; James Schroeder, Combined Locks, graduate of a wood badge course this summer at the Region 7 canoe base, Boulder Junction, who will lead the Boy Scout courses; and William St. Aubin, Little Chute, who also attended a wood badge course at the Region 7 canoe base a few years ago.

Neenah Buys School Site

Council Okays Purchase Of Kessler Plat Parcel For New Junior High

Neenah—Council members Wednesday night voted to buy an 8-72 acre site along Oak street and Higgins avenue and south of Haylett avenue for the new Junior High school.

The land is being purchased from Arthur J. Kessler for $34,008. The money will come from the income tax revenues with $6,801 being paid down.

Price of the site is $3,900 an acre. The aldermen authorized the mayor and clerk to exercise the option made earlier with Kessler.

Kessler is to submit to the city deeds conveying a 60-foot strip between Higgin and Maple streets and the southern ly 30-foot strip between Maple and S. Commercial streets for the proposed Haylett avenue right-of-way.

Faces Oak Street

The new Junior high school will face Oak street with Haylett avenue as its north boundary and Higgins avenue as the west boundary. The north end of the Whitnack plat will be the southern boundary.

Approval of the final plat of the Kessler subdivision as well as final plats for the Green-acre and Glenayre park north plat was given by the council on recommendation of the plans commission. The council also set Sept. 16 as the date for a hearing on the rezoning of property along Reed street between Quarry lane and Haylett avenue from 2-family to multiple family classification. Two large apartment houses have been suggested for that site.

A petition for the vacating of Joseph street, an undeveloped right-of-way along the east side of the present Highway 41, or Green Bay road, south of Main street was presented to the council and a resolution setting a hearing date will be submitted at the next meeting.

Ald. Paul Hansen, health and welfare committee chairman, reported his committee had not had time to meet to complete its work on an ordinance regarding backyard burning of rubbish nor to discuss the petition on smoke conditions at the Neenah Foundry company. He and Ald. Warren Sanders have met with foundry representatives and others about the matter, Hansen said.

Aldermen Back $140,000 Regional Planning Proposal

Neenah Council Unanimously Endorses Change in Operation

Neenah—Neenah aldermen Wednesday night unanimously approved the regional planning executive committee's action in rejecting the $201,000 proposal for the project and accepting the $140,000 cost estimate by Kenneth L. Schellie and associates of Indianapolis.

The Indiana firm will do the entire regional master plan under the revised proposal rather than sharing with the local regional planning office in gathering information and preparing the plan.

The finance committee recommended approval of the Schellie proposal. Ald. Leonard Hedberg wondered if the council's action would be binding on the city if others did not go along.

Only Recommendation
Mayor Bell replied it was only a recommendation to the regional planning commission and was to show the council was in accord with the rejection of the $201,000 plan and favored the $140,000 proposal.

"Placing the responsibility on one agency has merit," Ald. Paul Hansen thought, "in that it could avoid the friction and lost motion which might result when two agencies are trying to work together and coordinate their activities." "An outside agency might be a little more objective in viewing the problems than some agency which has roots here."

As in the past, 27 Twin City companies will play host to the teachers during afternoon tours and evening dinner and program. The last IE day, held in November of 1956, was attended by more than 450 teachers and school authorities.

Management of the event is the responsibility of the council's IE day committee, headed by Arthur R. Hedlund of Bergstrom Paper company. Other committee members were:

Neenah Crews Give Schools Thorough Cleaning, Repairing

Neenah—When Neenah youngsters go back to school next Thursday, it will be to buildings that have been scrubbed down, painted and made just as clean and hygienic as possible.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes pointed out today that maintenance crews under Earl Brien, supervisor of properties, put in a busy summer on a maintenance program that required hiring a few extra persons and having some of the work done by contractors since it was beyond the scope and equipment of the routine maintenance program.

The major project of the summer was the renovation of Kimberly Junior High school where the center stairway was removed and replaced by two stairways at the ends of the building and where other changes were made to make the building more safe from fires.

At the high school contractors repaired the chimney and put a new cap on top of the chimney. New lightning rods also were installed. The band director's office was sanded and refinished and a new sidewalk installed from the new academic wing to the old building.

Painting Work
The new academic building also was painted on the exterior and the cafeteria also was painted. Still scheduled for work at the high school is the acoustical treatment for the gymnasium.

Washington school maintenance work in the summer included painting the walls of the basement playroom to make it usable for a kindergarten because of the overcrowded conditions. This room had been used before for audio-visual programs.

Other work at the school included painting the walls in the first and second floor corridors, building cupboards for storage and bulletin boards for walls, fabricating faci-ties for hanging of children's clothes and laying linoleum on the floor of the seven storage closets.

Cabinets were made for the special education room at Lincoln school and the teaching room.

Youth, Charged With Breakins, Gets Probation

Oshkosh—Arnold L. Peterson, 18, of 510 Walnut street, Neenah, charged with breaking into the 7-Up Bottling Works here Aug. 26, was granted probation by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger this morning.

District Atty. Jack Steinhaber recommended probation after many Neenah citizens spoke in Peterson's behalf. The Neenah youth has been awarded a college scholarship and school officials recommended probation so that he could continue his schooling.

Representatives of the Neenah police department and Boys Brigade also spoke in Peterson's behalf.

In deferring sentencing and granting 2-year probation, Judge Luchsinger said he hoped the youth realized the seriousness of his offenses and commended him for his manliness in taking the blame for the Oshkosh breakins as well as seven in Neenah and two in Menasha on an earlier date.

A 16-year-old companion faces juvenile court action for his part in the Oshkosh breakin.

Council Vote To Buy Lot on E. Columbian

Property to be Used for Extra Off-Street Parking

Neenah—Purchase of the Ollie Severson lot at 129 E. Columbian avenue for $3,750 for off-street parking was authorized by the council Wednesday night. The money for the purchase will come from parking meter funds.

The finance committee recommended the action along with a recommendation that the claim of Harold Wilkes, 427 Washington avenue, be denied on the recommendation of the city's insurer. Wilkes asked for damages to his raspberry bed which he said resulted from a storm sewer backup.

A summons in a lawsuit brought against the city by Millard C. Matthews, 142 State street, was referred to the city attorney. Matthews is asking $2,533 for damage to his house and contents which he said resulted from a broken water main during the winter. The council earlier had denied his claim.

Assessment Suit
A second suit against the city has been brought by Eldon Blohm for removal of a special assessment levied against his property at E. Cecil street and Higgins avenue. The assessment was placed against a 3.33 foot wide strip which Blohm says he does not own. This also was referred to the city attorney.

Referred to the finance committee was the request of the Wisconsin Telephone company to set up an outdoor phone booth at the parking lot at W. Doty and Church streets leased to the city and owned by the First Presbyterian church.

Toronto Girl Seeks Thrills By Parachuting

Toronto — Parachuting seems a little dull to Lona Berger, 21-year-old insurance clerk, so she seeks extra thrills by delaying the tug of her ripcord.

While plunging through the air, she spreads her arms and twists her body through various acrobatic figures.

"Then at 2,000 feet you open your parachute," she says, "and the fun is all over."

Miss Berger, 5-foot-5 and 105 pounds, already has 130 jumps to her credit — more than any other woman member of Toronto's Parachute and Sky Diving Club.

She learned parachuting in her native Hungary, where she was women's sky diving champion.

When making a short 10-second jump, she says, she concentrates on counting the seconds.

onds. On a longer jump, she uses a stop watch fixed to her reserve parachute bag.

"You can't make a mistake in timing," she says. If the parachute opening was a seconds.

ond too late, the jumper would hurtle into the ground. change a baton, glide apart, then come back together for another baton switch. Then they would pull their ripcords for a safe descent.

New Fabrics, Hats Demonstrated at Teacher Conclave

Menasha — Feather hats for fall and new fabrics for draperies were demonstrated at the Wednesday afternoon session of Vocational Homemaking Teachers conference at Menasha Vocational school.

Miss Margaret Peerman of the education department at Stout State college demonstrated feather millinery in conjunction with a talk on goals and methods of demonstrations. A hat is one of the first things we notice about a person's costume, she pointed out.

She listed imagination as perhaps the most important characteristic of the amateur milliner. The educator showed examples of hat frames, which can be purchased and covered with feathers or other decor. Some of the newer type felt frames on the market are completely lined and bound and only need decoration.

Different types of feathers and hat designs were displayed in her demonstration. She suggested lightly pinning feathers on the frame to plan the design before gluing in place. Select feathers suitable to the frame, don't use too much glue and overlap the decor to avoid blank spaces, she advised. "Don't throw old hats away. Keep them for ideas and to re-use frames," she suggested.

"This is an age where we can't go to sleep for five minutes without something new being invented," said Miss Gertrude Hoffman, home furnishing specialist with the agricultural extension division, in a talk on new drapery fabrics.

She described the period as being an age of confusion because of so many materials to select from. "We need to be aware of the fibers we find in today's fabric," Miss Hoffman warned. She said synthetic materials all have one thing in common, lightness of weight.

Advantages

She pointed out most man-made fabrics have a low moisture absorbency and are easily washed, since dirt does not go into the fiber. She listed static, electrical effects as one of the undesirable features. Most of the fibers will not be attacked by moths, sil-verfish or mildew, she said.

Dacron is one of the choice drapery fabrics today because of its strength, resistance to sunlight, ease of dyeing and because it keeps its shape well.

When choosing a fabric, consider what you want it to do for you, said Miss Hoffman. If someone walks into a room and says 'what lovely curtains you have,' the decorator has failed. The curtains should fit into the total color scheme of the room, not stand out, she explained.

"We are prone to over-curtain rather than under-curtain. It isn't true that every window must have a curtain" she said.

Teachers from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna and Kimberly with Oshkosh and Marinette teachers as guests participated in the day long conference. Morning session speakers were John Te-Poorten, occupation extension coordinator, Charles Wine-garner, Fond du Lac, and Miss Monica Cooney, Appleton.

Aldermen Ready Snow Shoveling Ordinances

Neenah — Council committee members during the recent 90-degree heat wave were drafting and redrafting several snow removal ordinances, one of which was passed at Wednesday night's council meeting.

The other was held up so that each alderman could study it and the previous ordinance on snow shoveling which it replaces.

The one passed by an 8 to 1 vote prohibits persons from shoveling or plowing snow from driveways into the streets.

Ald. Peter Fara, who cast the lone negative vote, said he did it because he lived on a street with a high crown and the snow plows were always filling his driveway with snow after he had it shoveled.

"This was an unusual year and we probably won't get another one for 50 years," he said, a remark which prompted Ald. Leonard Hedberg to knock on his wooden desk. "I get mad when the snow-plow dumps all its snow in my driveway 15 minutes after I shoveled it."

24 Hour Deadline
The ordinance which is being held up for further study would require householders to shovel their walks within 24 hours after the end of the snowfall. If not removed by then, the director of public works is to serve notice on them to shovel the snow.

If the sidewalks are not shoveled within 12 hours after such notice, city crews will do it and charge the cost to the householder.

Mayor Bell explained this was to replace the old time deadline complicated ordinance which set 7 p.m. as the time from which the number of hours for the shoveling of snow was to be figured.

If the snow stopped before 7 p.m., the householder had 24 hours to shovel his walks. If the snow stopped after 7 p.m., then the householder had until 7 a.m. on the second day after the storm to shovel the walks.

"Thus, if it stops snowing

at 6:45 p.m., you have until 7 p.m. the next night to shovel the snow. If it doesn't stop until 7:15 p.m. then you have all of the next day and until 7 a.m. on the second day before the sidewalk has to be cleaned," he explained.

The proposed new ordinance replaces a regular fee for the work with just charging the householder whatever the actual cost might be.

The old system caused considerable complaints and ill will, the mayor explained.

Since the matter was not pressing at the moment, the aldermen agreed to postpone action until they could get individual copies of the ordinances for study.

Resurfacing
Of Boulevard
Gets Approval

Neenah Council
Authorizes Contract
For Blacktopping

Neenah — Resurfacing of Nicolet boulevard from Commercial street to Third street will begin soon as the council Wednesday night approved the bid of Courtney and Plummer, Inc., for the work.

The Menasha council Tuesday night also approved the bid for $6,720 for the entire project, cost of which is to be divided between the two cities. The road will be blacktopped.

The public works committee recommended installation of additions to the sewer systems in various parts in the city to relieve basement flooding. The work will be done by city crews and the estimated cost of about $5,000 for the work is below that which had been placed in the budget, the committee reported.

Geiger Street Work
A preliminary resolution to call for special assessments for the grading and graveling of Geiger street from Andrew street to Green Bay road, the present Highway 41, the laying of water mains in that 224 feet west from Andrew street received council approval.

The public works committee is to prepare plans and specifications for the work and to set the probable assessment costs.

Referred to the public work committee was a request from Ald. Leonard Hedberg to check the resurfacing of Sherry street. It has been in bad shape for several years and is worse now that the water main has been installed along it, he declared.

Slough Stinks
Ald. Hedberg also called attention to offensive odors in the slough area between Winneconne avenue and Adams street, particularly during the recent hot weather.

"People have been unable to keep their windows open and the odor was so strong that it awakened several persons at night," Hedberg mentioned. He wondered if some persons still had their sanitary sewers connected to storm sewers which were emptying into the slough or were dumping sewage itself into the slough. The health and welfare committee was instructed to check.

City Clerk R. V. Hauser was directed upon a motion by Ald. Carl Coenen to contact the Soo Line railroad regarding its warning flasher signals on Main street. Coenen said the flashers would be in operation while trains were standing at the depot in the early morning.

Motorists do not know what to do as the train sits at the depot for long periods, he remarked.

Driveway Scuffle
By Menasha, 23,
Results in Fine

Menasha — Wesley L. Crosby, 23, of Menasha and Marion, Wednesday was fined $5 and costs after pleading guilty before Police Justice Arthur J. Ales of disorderly conduct.

He was charged as a result of a Saturday night scuffle in a driveway next to the Midtown bar, 352 Chute street.

Crosby and his wife, Patricia, 18, had complained he was struck by Martin Willem, 352 1/2 Chute street. Investigation resulted in the charges being placed against Crosby.

The Crosbys allegedly refused to move their car from the private driveway at 352 Chute street on request of the property owner and of Willem.

Mrs. Crosby Tuesday pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed weapon at arraignment in Oshkosh municipal court. She is being held without bail for sentencing Friday by Judge S. J. Luchsinger.

A .22-cal. revolver in Mrs. Crosby's hand discharged as two policemen were attempting to wrest it from her hand while she was being questioned Monday night in the Menasha police station. Mrs. Crosby had shown the weapon at a bar Monday night. Someone at the tavern warned police, who picked her up on the street.

Negro Bishop Suggests Nikita
Visit in South

Philadelphia — A Negro bishop says Nikita Khrushchev should visit a southern city to see for himself that communist propaganda is wrong: American Negroes are not downtrodden.

Sherman L. Greene, senior bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, criticized the state department yesterday for not including such a visit in the Soviet premier's itinerary for his trip to the United States this fall. Bishop Greene said he has suggested, in a letter to President Eisenhower, that Khrushchev visit his home city, Atlanta, Ga.

Dreaded Rabies Takes Big Toll of Victims

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Rabies is one of the oldest and most widespread diseases attacking animals often kept by man as pets. The disease is a frightening one and respects no person—it attacks any warm-blooded mammal.

Control of the disease is complicated and treatment of persons bitten by a rabid animal is painful, long and can be dangerous.

Dogs and wild animals account for about 80 to 85 per cent of the rabies cases reported in the U. S. The remaining cases are split between a number of animals with cats accounting for about 10 per cent. Other animals found with rabies include cattle, horses, sheep and goats and swine. Only drank the milk of a rabid cow, there would be no chance of rabies infection. It cannot be transmitted through milk or milk products.

Research has indicated that about 15 per cent of human beings and 30 to 40 per cent of animals bitten by a rabid animal develop infection. This is a natural resistance and has been known for centuries.

Treatment Essential

However, treatment for a rabid animal bite is absolutely essential. Once the disease gets a foothold in the body it cannot be checked.

It is always fatal. The purpose of rabies bite treatment is to stimulate rabies antibodies in the system, sufficiently strong to overcome the virus and prevent it from destroying the central nervous system.

The treatment consists of 14 daily injections of rabies vaccine. The location and severity of the bite determines the procedure followed. A bite near the head or face is much more brucellosis and tuberculosis account for more individual cases than rabies. The disease knows no geographic boundaries and is reported in every state.

Thirteenth in a Series

Caused by Virus

Rabies is caused by a virus, but unlike the virus causing polio or influenza, it can be transmitted only by a bite or scratch from an infected animal. The virus is highly infectious and attacks the brain and spinal cord. However, it also has been found in other areas of the body.

The disease is spread by the saliva of an infected animal. This is important, since it means that if a person dangerous than elsewhere on the body.

A 6-Foot Culvert—One of the largest in Appleton—has been installed as part of a new road leading to the South Meadows plat in back of the Institute of Paper Chemistry. The culvert itself cost about $4,000. Fill was provided from grading in the area. Post-Crescent Photographer Ralph Acker took this picture of himself peering into the huge pipe to demonstrate its size. Acker used a delayed-action shutter on his camera.

Dog Bite Is Worst

Research indicates that it is more dangerous to be bitten by a rabid member of the dog family than any other animal.

In cases where there have been severe, multiple bites from an infected animal, the physician may give a hyperimmune rabies antiserum, providing an immediate high immunity and a head start on the virus before the 14-day injections are begun.

There is some danger in the treatment—one person of each

5,800 exhibits some reaction and one in every 23,000 dies.

Odds Favor Vaccine

However, the odds favor the treatment—better discomfort or danger from the treatment than months of doubts about whether the bitten individual will live.

The average time for rabies to develop is two to six weeks, but a range of 12 days to 11 months has been reported in human beings, 10 to 205 days in dogs. For most purposes, a 2-week observation period is enough to determine if a dog has rabies.

A dog may look healthy and still be carrying the disease, although the so-called "biting" stage of rabies is when the disease is most evident.

What to Do

If you are bitten by a dog, the first thing to do is to wash the wound thoroughly with water and encourage bleeding to carry away the saliva. The animal should be confined for observation. If the animal cannot be found, the rabies treatment should be taken.

There are three basic steps in any rabies eradication program:

1. Vaccination of all pets on a community-wide basis. Vaccine will give maximum protection for a year.
2. Rounding up and impounding all stray dogs and cats.
3. Licensing of all privately owned dogs, including rabies inoculation information on the tags.

Cats can be vaccinated just as dogs, and there is some indication of a rise of rabies cases among cats.

Wildlife Danger

Wildlife can be dangerous—since if a rabid wild animal got into a herd and bit animals in its path, the result could be costly and tragic.

There are two types of rabies—the "furious" type and the "dumb" type. In the "furious" type, the classic mad dog symptoms appear. At the height of the irritable stage, the animal becomes vicious and violent. If it is caged, it will make every attempt to escape, often breaking its teeth on the bars attempting to chew its way out.

At this stage, the animal finds it difficult to swallow food and water and usually will avoid them. Because of this swallowing difficulty, saliva will drool out of the animal's mouth. But infected animals do not froth at the mouth as is generally believed.

Paralysis follows rapidly and the animal will die in four to seven days.

Early Symptoms

An early symptom of the disease is a tendency for the animal to hide or to become more affectionate than is usual. The animal may snap and bite at imaginary objects and be easily startled by sudden noises or disturbances. As the disease progresses, breathing becomes labored, the animal refuses to eat and weakness of the vocal cords develops.

In "dumb" rabies, the commonest symptom is drowsiness, depression and a paralysis of the lower jaw. The latter causes the mouth to be held open and drooling takes place. Often the owner will attempt to examine the animal and is infected. If there is a fresh hand cut or abrasion, the virus may be introduced into the blood stream.

As in the "furious" type, there is a tendency for the animal to hide. Food and drink are untouched because of the difficulty in swallowing. Unlike the "furious" type, there is no irritability or tendency to bite unless the animal is unduly disturbed or agitated.

Situation for Geese Good, Ducks Serious, State Official Tells

Undersupply of Ducks Caused by Critical Breeding Land Problem, Lack of Space

Neenah — The goose situation in the state is extremely bright while ducks constitute a very serious problem, W. C. Truax, regional director of the conservation department office at Oshkosh, told the Neenah Kiwanians at their Wednesday noon luncheon at the Valley Inn.

The Mississippi flyway has lots of geese, Truax reported, adding that they breed on hundreds and hundreds of acres of vacant land in the Hudson and James bay areas.

The speaker declared the problem here is in wintering grounds which consist of southern Illinois, Mississippi, Louisiana and the Gulf coast.

Horseshoe Lake

A few years ago Illinois built Horseshoe lake as a short stop for geese and it has built up a tremendous flock the official pointed out. In addition, two other refuges have been set up by the federal people.

Additional wintering ground are needed and there is the problem of distributing the harvest equitably in the state, Truax added. He touched on the Horican marsh setup with its managed hunt. Applications are due this week and some 6,000 reservations will be issued and it is expected that some 40,000 hunters will want them.

As for ducks, the big problems as mentioned by the conservation official are undersupply and space.

He stated that the under-

Contributing to the bright side are the fact that the Rockets have had a year to become indoctrinated in Coach Marlon Battermen's system, there are 18 lettermen, several of the regulars who were sidelined a good part of last season are back and going at top speed and the squad includes just about every member of last year's unbeaten freshman club.

Kenney, Wirth Top Menasha Net Program

Both Collect Two Singles Crowns; Add One Doubles

Menasha — A pair of promising youngsters, Pat Kenney and Barbara Wirth, each swept or shared three championships in the recently-concluded summer playground tennis program.

Kenney, son of Leo Kenney, summer tennis director, won the boys 13 and under and 15 and under singles meet and paired with Tom Vanderhyden to cop the boys 13 and under doubles crown.

Miss Wirth placed first in the girls 15 and under and 13 and under singles tournaments and combined forces with Sue Wilfling for first place in the girls 15 and under doubles.

Double winners were Vanderhyden, who won the boys 11 and under singles in addition to the doubles crown with Kenney and Jim Stenson. Last weekend Vanderhyden placed first in the 11 and under division of the state closed meet.

Stenson took the boys 18 and under singles title and he and Bob Adams won the 18 and under doubles crown.

Other winners were Bob Erickson, men's singles; Sue Rhyner, 18 and under girls singles; and John and Barry Conway, boys 15 and under doubles.

Other titles garnered by Twin City netters included the district girls singles title by Miss Wirth, Twin City junior girls championship by Diane Gilbertson and a Twin City JCC crown by Barry Conway.

Group Protests Blasting for Sewer Work

Petition Opposes Dynamite Use on Campbell Street

Neenah — Residents in the Campbell street area where a 250-foot stretch of sewer is being installed protested the blasting of rock for the sewer installation to the council Wednesday night.

A petition with 19 signers was filed with the council and seven persons appeared at the meeting to protest. They contended the blasting could result in damages to their homes.

Speaking before the council were William E. Osborne, B. J. McCarrigan, William Roth and Donald G. Terhewy. They asked that jackhammers be used to remove the rock rather than blasting.

Mayor Bell said that sometimes the use of jackhammers would markedly increase the cost for the work and create a heavy burden on the taxpayers if blasting was to be prohibited.

He pointed to the blasting for the water department clear well and in the high school area. When blasting is done with the greatest possible care, in most cases there is no damage. Cracks in foundations can come from other causes, the mayor added.

The council voted to enter into contract with Charles A. Green and Sons, Appleton, for the sewer installation with the provision that rock was to be removed without blasting if possible, that all necessary precautions were to be taken if blasting was necessary and that the contractor provide adequate insurance to take care of any damages to home that might result from blasting.

Ald. Ewald Miller cast the only negative vote against this motion.

Usual Garbage Pickup Scheduled

Neenah — Garbage will be picked up as usual Monday, Labor day, Health Officer H. O. Haugh announced today.

The two packer trucks will begin work at 5 a.m. City residents are asked to have all garbage at curbs by that time.

Westland Resigns Aldermanic Office

Seventh Ward Council Member Moving From State; Election Set

Neenah — Ralph G. Westland, seventh ward alderman, resigned Wednesday night from the council as he is moving from the state.

Westland, who lives at 155 Richard street, was elected to his first term on the council last April, defeating the incumbent, Kenneth E. Parman, in a 3-man race.

He has served as vice chairman of the health and welfare committee, a post which makes him council liaison representative to the park and recreation board, and on the public protection committee.

Westland wrote that he has been given a promotion by his company which requires him to move to Iowa. He was absent from the meeting.

City Atty. Charles Schaller advised his successor is to be elected by the council to serve until April when a person will be elected to fill out the remainder of the term.

Fall River Man Faces Possible 88 Days in Jail on 3 Charges

Oshkosh—Winnebago county and Oshkosh police finally caught up with Howard Crossman, 33, Fall River, and as the result he faces a possible 88 days in county jail.

Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger this morning fined Crossman $75 and costs or 20 days in jail for speeding in the city last Dec. 15.

He drew another fine of $25 or eight days on a disorderly conduct charge for letting the air out of tires of cars parked at a town of Oshkosh tavern on April 25 and he received a 60-day jail term for obtaining money under false pretenses from the same tavern on Feb. 6. He pleaded guilty to the last two charges.

Crews Prepare Buildings for School Terms

er's desk for that room was repaired and refinished.

Wilson school's exterior was painted, additional blackboards installed in three classrooms and bulletin board strips removed and cork bulletin boards installed in six classrooms.

Hoover school projects included repairing the exteriors of windows, painting the building exterior, adding a sidewalk from the kindergarten to the street and installing a gate in the fence at the northwest corner of the playground.

Repair of the chimney and new lightning rods was one of the McKinley school projects, along with repairing the roof flashing and pointing of the brickwork and parapet walls.

The sole project at Roosevelt school was the repair of the gym roof. Taft school being a new school, nothing was done there in the maintenance line.

Maintenance crews also built 19 new teacher's desks, 15 new book cases, eight new stands for projections, two new chests of drawers for doll clothes for the kindergartens and six new room dividers for the kindergartens. They also washed all of the walls, windows and furniture in every classroom in the city schools and scrubbed and sealed the classroom and gym floors.

Marathon Machine Overheats, Smoke Spreads in Building

Menasha — A wax machine in Marathon carton plant on Washington street overheated about noon today spreading smoke through a large part of the building.

The Menasha fire department was called and noon hour rush traffic was rerouted. Little damage resulted. Off duty firemen were called in as a precaution. Three trucks were sent to the plant.

Judge Defers Action On Morals Charge

Oshkosh — Action in the case of Jerry Sweeney, 38, of Des Plaines, Ill., charged with taking indecent liberties with a 16-year-old Neenah girl on July 9, was deferred until Sept. 11 by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger this morning.

Sweeney, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff without bond, was returned from the sex deviate facility at Waupun for court action.

idents are asked to have all garbage at curbs by that time.

Change Minds

Council Won't Divide Office Of Clerk-Comptroller After All

Appleton aldermen voted 13-to-7 Wednesday not to divide the office of clerk-comptroller after all.

The decision came after a committee of the whole (informal) meeting and reverses a decision made last November.

Still favoring the split after the lengthy informal debate were Aldermen Groh, Hannemann, Malmstrom, Ogilvie, Pointer, Schneider and Mrs. Stillings.

Proponents claimed the city would either save money or increase services if a qualified accountant was hired to take over Clerk Elden J. Broehm's comptroller duties.

See Opponent

Opponents doubted savings and said Broehm is doing as good a job as anyone can. Some opponents felt the new accounting office would grow to a $40,000 expenditure annually.

There also was some talk that an accountant should be hired to assist Broehm in comptroller work, but it was rejected. Some aldermen suggested the man might then campaign for election to the clerk's job on the basis of experience and greater training.

In the committee of the whole, representatives of the Appleton League of Women Voters made a prepared statement in which they urged creation of central purchasing.

New Meeting Date

It was decided the council would attend the Sept. 16 special fall fashion show being arranged by the Appleton Downtown Retail association for 8 p.m. at College avenue and Appleton street.

This will force postponement of the regularly-scheduled Sept. 16 council meeting to the next Wednesday night, Sept. 23.

Park Locomotive

On motion of Ald. Schneider, the council urged the park board to accept "the generous offers of the Soo Line Railroad and John Balliet" of a railroad steam engine and the cost of maintenance for it.

The motion also asked the board to place the locomotive in Telulah park.

Assessments

Ald. Mrs. Stillings, who said a new policy for special assessments apparently was being tried, was the only opponent of assessments confirmed for projects on two streets.

The projects include sewer, water, curb, gutter, grading and graveling on E. Shaw street from Carpenter street to Fairway court, and sewer, water, grading and graveling of S. Schaefer street from E. Candee street to E. Forest street.

Charges are $2 a front foot for grading and graveling, $1.80 for curb and gutter, $2.60 for sanitary sewer and $2.50 for water mains.

See Comeback

Three lots on Shaw street, Mrs. Stillings said, are being charged for 60 feet of frontage even though they actually have considerably less frontage.

Director of Public Works Duszynski said Fairway court is in a U-shape, and the board of public works regarded the improvements as worth a minimum of 60 feet of charge.

Then, said Mrs. Stillings, the neighbor who is paying for 75 feet of frontage has a similar argument, that while paying for 75 feet, the improvements are worth only 60 feet of charge.

Duszynski told Paul Volpe.

one of the Shaw street property owners, sewer work will start in a few weeks and the curb and gutter next year.

Appointments

R. D. DeLand, 831 E. Pacific street, was unanimously reelected to a 5-year term on the water commission. He was the only applicant. His current term expires Oct. 1.

Robert A. Christensen, 409 W. Eighth street, was confirmed for re-appointment to a 3-year term on the warm air heating board. His term expires this month.

School Signals

After Ald. Tucker pointed out crossing signals being tried on Oneida street at Columbus school represent a trial only the council changed the public safety committee report to provide for disconnection, rather than the removal of nearby older model flashing caution lights.

Trip Questioned

Ald. Malmstrom called a proposed trip to Green Bay by the public safety committee, the police and fire chiefs and electrical inspector, a waste of money.

The contingent proposed to inspect Green Bay's telephone fire alarm system.

Malmstrom said the entire problem had been looked into once before.

Ald. Schneider, safety committee chairman, said the recommendation should be withdrawn anyway because an earlier report gave all aldermen permission to attend the next League of Wisconsin Municipalities meeting in Green Bay in October and the inspection could be made then.

The committee, he said, will come back later with a recommendation that the two chiefs and the inspector be permitted to make the trip, too.

Praises Firemen

Ald. Loos praised the fast work of the fire department at the Western Elevator company granary last week. He said firemen risked their lives to put out a dangerously combustible fire and hold property damage to a minimum.

Uphold Police

The public safety committee's ruling that there is no evidence the police department did not follow proper procedures in handling the teenage boys' knife threats to Ivo Lamers, 724 S. Mueller street, was approved without comment.

Dutch Elm Plan

The park board was authorized to institute a sanitation program to prevent spreading of Dutch elm disease in city-owned elms. The city attorney was instructed to work with the board and the welfare and ordinance committee in drafting an ordinance to control spread of the disease among elms on private property.

Sewer Projects

Award of contracts to Central Construction corporation, Oshkosh, for the $116,247 Ballard road sanitary sewer trunk work, and three companies for the $81,852 northwest sewage lift station were approved.

Ballard Road Paving

The council concurred in the street committee decision to postpone a request for county aid in repaving Ballard road until April, 1960. Work would be done in 1961. The county told the committee the request for 1960 aid came too late.

TV Coverage

WFRV-TV was given permission to park a trailer of TV equipment on the east side of S. Appleton street between Sept. 11 and 17 to permit coverage of the special fall fashion show programs of the chamber of commerce.

Beer License

A license to sell beer to 18-year-olds and up was granted to the Do-We Grill, 502 N. Richmond street.

Plats

The tentative Sunny Acres and Buttes des Morts Valley plats and the final Fairway plat were approved.

The Sunny Acres plat, owned by the Fountain Development company, shows about 149 lots at the southeast corner of Kernan avenue and Calumet street. Thirty-two of the lots will be zoned multiple family, and the plat provides a 40-foot width for south half of the Calumet street right-of-way and a 27-foot setback along the east side of Kernan avenue. The setback will provide room in the future, for widening of the road, if needed. The plat also provides a 66-foot-wide right-of-way for Telulah avenue's extension to the south.

The Butte Des Morts Valley plat, owned by the Garvey Agency, shows about 40 1-acre lots on the east side of Blue-mound road (Badger School road), about a quarter mile north of Prospect avenue. Approval was only for the street layout, which is a court arrangement.

The Fairway plat was adopted earlier, but owners failed to record it with the register of deeds within the required 30 days. It shows 31 lots east of Carpenter street and south of Shaw street extended.

Post Office Ruling Puts Stop to Prize Gifts in Markets

There will be no more free gifts on a free registration basis from grocery stores in Kaukauna.

That's the result of a ruling of the district postal inspector at Green Bay following complaints to postal authorities in Appleton.

The department has ruled giving of gifts or prizes on a free registration basis is a lottery. Tests of skill or talent, such as jingle contests, are not banned.

The situation arose as a result of super markets in Kaukauna announcing such gifts in newspapers and shopping sheets distributed by mail in Little Chute, Kimberly and Combined Locks. Penalty for non-compliance would be withdrawing of mailing permit for newspapers and refusal by the post office department to accept papers for mailing, postal authorities said.

Soviets Blame Western Allies for World War

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Only a sense of guilt could have prompted the Soviet newspapers, radio and publishing houses to launch in the last 24 hours a barrage of state ments claiming that Britain, France and the United States were responsible for the outbreak of World War II.

For, because this week marks the 20th anniversary of Hitler's first attack on Poland, there was bound to be a revival of the discussion of who was to blame for the second world war.

But, thanks to the opportunity just afforded unwittingly by the Soviet propagandists, the world will be reminded with renewed emphasis now that it was the communist regime which really made World War II possible.

Had it not been for the communist double cross of Britain and France, who in the summer of 1939 were trying to negotiate a treaty with Moscow, the Nazi government in Berlin would never have dared to start World War II. Hitler wanted to make sure that his eastern boundary was secure. He knew that a war going on simultaneously on the eastern and western fronts could mean defeat for him. Once, however, he neutralized his eastern borders, there was every chance to overrun Holland, Belgium and France before enough British forces could come to the rescue. As for the United States, the Nazi chief felt sure he could win a victory before American forces could be mobilized and transported across the Atlantic.

Hitler Strategy

What would the effect have been on Hitler if he had had a hostile Russia poised on his eastern front? He would surely have refrained from taking the military risk he did. Actually, he was convinced that, despite their belated mobilization, neither Britain nor France would come to the aid of Poland and that, if he struck quickly, he could "localize" the conflict and enter another Munich-like peace conference and consolidate his gains — provided Russia stayed "neutral."

The communists' responsibility for World War II is, therefore, plain to see. It so happens that the non-aggression pact which Stalin and Molotov signed with Hitler on Aug. 24, 1939, was violated by the Nazi invasion of Russia on June 22, 1941. But during the intervening 22 months the Communist regime in Moscow had made a notable contribution to Hitler's military strategy.

The blunder made by the Kremlin in allying itself with Hitler stands out before the world as an example of stupid diplomacy and of cruel disregard for the fate of the millions of Russians who were sacrificed in the fighting that followed. Someday when there is a revolution in Russia and a free press emerges, it is the exposition of this chapter in history which will sound the death knell of the communists.

West Against East

For the Moscow "press" today to try to shift the blame to the west is another instance of stupidity. The people of the west were told at the time, in their newspapers and over the radio, every move that preceded the outbreak of World War II. The Moscow communists simply played the west against the east so as to get the best agreement possible out of Hitler. When the Nazi chief double-crossed the communists and attacked Russia in 1941, the west promptly came to the rescue of the Soviet Union by furnishing billions of dollars' worth of equipment and intensifying the war on the western front so as to ease the burden on the eastern front. In the end, Hitler was caught in a squeeze between the eastern and western armies, just as he had originally feared, but which he thought he could prevent by a quick victory over western Europe.

It is to prevent a miscalculation by a potential aggressor in Moscow that Mr. Eisenhower today favors an explicit reiteration of the determination of the west to fight if its area of interest is attacked. The repetition of this statement in unqualified terms by all members of the western alliance this time could prevent another world war.

Joshua Trees, Gold In House Potpourri

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

POTPOURRI From California: Now back from the Mojave desert where 100 of fine Wisconsin U. S. Marine corps reserves trained for and fought a sham war, I find I have some not so-vital notes left over. Y'r welcome:

A regular marine corps officer looked over the Wisconsin boys prior to an inspection. Addressing himself to Maj. Robert J. Mallon, commanding officer of the Wisconsin troops, he said: "Something ought to be done about those haircuts. Some of those men went to the barber and got military haircuts but some of the others are wearing their hair too long. They look terrible."

"Which ones?" asked Maj. Mallon, "those without the military haircuts or those with?"

When I reported that several of our Wisconsin men had been "killed" in action, I took great pains in stating that they had not been really killed because the war was a mock war and they had been simply tagged by the field umpires. I also reported truthfully that I had been "killed" twice. Furthermore, I questioned some of the marine reserves to find out, if possible, what parents — if any — might be too disturbed by such a report of their son's make-believe demise.

So, in my report to you I eliminated a number of names of citizen marines who had been tagged as "dead" and "wounded" out of consideration to parents who might be too disturbed over the report.

'Killed' in Action

Furthermore, my report read "Killed (but not really)" in this action were . . . and I listed only a few of the names of the men who were killed (but not really!) I then reported that I, though killed twice, felt good and that the others who were killed felt fine, too. I wrote that some had ridden into a land mine, and I added, "but not really." I also wrote that "The enemy Kajuns are not real enemies at all, but crack marine corps reserve troops."

Thus, I took great pains to make it brightly clear that it was all make-believe.

Despite this, a mother called the marine corps reserve headquarters in Green Bay and said, "My son has been killed in the war in California. What am I supposed to do about it?"

One day after the battle was over I had a chat with a member of the Louisiana troops which had opposed us. A very interesting man, he told me in words something like the following that: "When I joined the marine corps my daddy he said to me, 'Son, you are going to have some trouble. You're half French and half Irish. The French half of you will all the time want to be chasing women and the Irish half of you will all the time want to be drinking.'"

"So I went into the corps and was gone a year. When I came home, my daddy asked me how things were with me and I told him the truth. 'Daddy,' I said, 'I am burning the candle at both ends.'"

From the same marine, I learned a good Southern-style story: A Louisiana dog breeder of samoyed dogs once got a letter from an old sourdough in Alaska. The sourdough said he had heard the samoyeds raised by the Louisiana breeder were superb for dog-sled teams. It they really were, he wrote, he would like to buy 12 of them.

You-All Mush, Now

In due time the breeder shipped the samoyeds to the Alaskan. Then, several weeks later he got another letter.

"The dogs you said are so good are just terrible," he wrote. "I have hitched them to the sled and I shout 'mush' to them, but they just won't move."

The breeder wrote back and explained: "You forget that the samoyeds were raised in the south. 'Mush' doesn't mean anything to them. When you want them to go you must shout, 'Grits, you-all!'"

The marine corps base at Twenty-nine Palms where we stayed is deep in the Mojave desert, yet it uses some two million gallons of water per day. Getting rid of surplus water, surprisingly enough, is a bigger problem than acquiring water on the desert. It doesn't sink; it must evaporate.

The truth is that there is a huge "underground" lake not far distant. The lake, geologically speaking, is not "underground" at all, but is simply a lake that is filled with sand. The corps has made a depression at the water table to catch the water as it flows down from the mountains. The water is pumped 600 and 800 feet to reservoir tanks, attract attention to the community — and money as well. One of the gimmicks was the production of a song which was popular some years ago, and which you may remember. It was called "The Lady From Twenty-nine Palms."

Nevertheless, all but 14 of the palm trees are now gone — dead, I think. And the marines seldom give it its full, official title.

"Let's go over to Twigs," they say.

Another "tree" indigenous to that general area is a perfectly ugly thing which no Wisconsin would recognize as a tree even though it grows to tree heights. It's called a "Joshua tree" and is merely a giant form of a pulpy plant which grows throughout the west and southwest and is called yucca.

The Mormons gave the name "Joshua tree" to the plant because it somewhat resembles a man with arms stretched toward heaven.

One day I dug up an amateur rock hunter. Cpl. John Frankland, Oakland, Calif. I persuaded him to accompany me on a hunt for gems which are not uncommon in the desert and the mountains.

We went to some lava hills near Black Ridge in the Bristol mountain range while the Wisconsin troops were attending classes. Frankland has found such precious "rocks" as sapphire, tourmaline and garnet in the nearby areas, but I was more interested in getting a story than gems, because that's my job.

We found some fair samples of a semi-precious gem called peridot, a pretty combination of green and yellow, but not in sufficient size to be of commercial value.

Panning for Gold

We also found some specks of gold dust in ancient river beds, but the day was too hot (136 degrees) and water was too precious to pan it into valuable quantities.

The corporal, 22, suffered from heat exhaustion and I had to help him out of the fiercely hot area and back to the car. When safely there, he told me that an officer from the public information office of the marine corps had called him aside and said:

"Corporal, I want you to take it easy on this reporter out there in the desert — he's 40 years old!"

That advanced age, by the way, was probably the reason I have the need to seek revenge upon one of the Wisconsin citizen-Marines, Pfc. Paul Weiland, Green Bay.

Almost every night of sleeping in the field, Paul seemed to worry about me, though I can't think why. Sleeping on rocks and boulders and in volcanic ash sprinkled with gravel and granite was never fun, but once sleep came I seldom awakened. And when I did, it was Weiland who awakened me.

He came to my blanket on the rocks every night and poked me and shook me into wakefulness, and then asked, "You sleeping all right, Charlie?"

As we hear the story, it was decided the best way to clean the part was with a type of steel or cotton scouring pad. This was tiresome, so one of the engineers dropped down to the local grocery, bought a bottle of one of the new cleaning agents advertised as doing just about everything, and cleaned the machine.

Lucey Unopposed as Democratic Chairman

Opponents Cannot Find Candidate Willing To Run; Edgerton Lawyer Noncommittal

Madison — State Democratic Chairman Patrick J. Lucey's opponents have not yet recruited a candidate they are sure will run against him, according to authoritative Democratic sources.

Sverre Roang, Edgerton lawyer and party leader publicized as a challenger at the delegate convention in Milwaukee in November, has not yet actually consented to run.

He will run only if requested by highest leaders of the party, including Gov. Nelson, it was learned. There is little chance such urging will be forthcoming. Gov. Nelson said Wednesday he won't interfere in the quarrel over Lucey.

Important Block Lucey meanwhile can depend upon the intervention of such figures as Sen. Proxmire, Atty. Gen. John Reynolds and others.

He has not yet said he is a candidate, but he has told friends he will stand another term. The election will be for two years, and the man chosen will have charge of the party machinery during the strategic presidential election campaign, and will have patronage prerequisites if the Democrats should win the presidential election.

Some of Lucey's opponents, who have searched for a candidate, made known the possibility of Roang.

Noncommittal Roang's public response was noncommittal, and some party men got the impression he was willing. But his statements were designed to avoid a commitment before he knew the wishes of Gov. Nelson, it is said. With Nelson resolved to avoid the squabble on the eve of his own reelection drive, Roang will decline to run, according to informed representatives.

Lucey has some enemies within the party, including highly placed Milwaukeeans, who had hoped to rally the Milwaukee county delegation against him.

The party chairman's job is not salary.

Turn Lanes Sought at 2 Intersections

Building, Loan Asks Drive-in Off College Avenue

Turning lanes are needed at the Meade and Lawe street intersections of Wisconsin avenue, Ald. Donald Mueller told the city council Wednesday.

Mueller said he was asking formally for action on his suggestions after they apparently were rejected when he made them informally before the public safety committee.

Mayor Mitchell referred the matter to the public safety committee.

Other Requests Other items of new business, all referred to committees for recommendations: George Beckley, Jr., vice president of Appleton Building and Loan association, requested permission to build drive-in facilities at the association's new building, in mid-block between Drew and Durkee streets on the north side of College avenue. The exit would be through the curb of the alley to the north, he said.

Joseph Wittmann, route 4, Appleton, withdrew his offer to sell the city an elementary school site between Clara and John streets.

Seeks Parking Ban Ald. Groh called for a parking ban on Memorial drive from Lawrence street south to the first driveway to improve vision for the motorist.

Ald. Bogan requested sewer, water, grading and graveling on Commercial street from Sharon street west.

Unmuth Building Movers asked permission to move an 18 by 20-foot steel building from 318 E. College avenue to 1344 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Abraham Shilcat, 217 E. Commercial street, and Louis Simon, 327 W. Wisconsin avenue, sought junk dealers licenses. Simon was denied a license July 1, but has his yard in good order now, Fire Chief Neumann reported.

Hearing Testing Begins Today Hearing tests begin in Appleton public and parochial schools today, School Nurse Lucille Lang has announced.

Lay testers will start screening pupils at Madison school. Students who fail the first test will be retested by school nurses and their audiographs checked by a state department of public instruction hearing consultant, Miss Lang said.

The lay testers were trained last week and this week.

Alderman Asks Interest Rate Like Neenah's Malmstrom Defends Bacich in Principle Before City Council

Ald. Homer Malmstrom Wednesday urged the city council to change its interest policy on special assessments for public works to conform with Neenah's.

His resolution came after remarks which appeared to be a defense in principle of Anthony P. Bacich, 1606 N. Owaissa street, whose charges about interest policy the finance committee last week ruled unfounded.

Neenah requires property owners who elect the installment plan to pay for special assessments to pay the first installment when the next city general tax payment is due. There is no interest charged the first year, but on each of the succeeding four due dates interest is charged at the rate of 6 per cent per year on the balance owed the last 12 months.

Appleton Different Appleton presently has five equal annual installments. Interest, at 4 per cent per year is charged from the first year on, but in the first payment, also made with the city general tax payment, the property owner is charged both back interest from the date of billing and forward interest for the year ahead, all on the total owed. The last four payments also are accompanied by 4 per cent interest charges on the amount owed at payment date. It results in some property owners paying 4 per cent interest six times.

At the root of the recent controversy about interest charges are statements the city publishes in legal notices and which it sends property owners receiving special assessments bills. The statement reads that interest will be charged at the rate of 4 per cent per year on the unpaid balance.

Malmstrom, Bacich and Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings have taken the statement to mean that charging ahead in the first year is wrong.

Mrs. Stillings, at the outset, made it clear she did not question the legality of the policy, and the finance committee subsequently received an opinion from the League of Wisconsin Municipalities that the policy is legal.

Real Issue, He Says Malmstrom said he agrees that Bacich's complaint is unfounded, but it was unfortunate the man did not put his case this way.

"My total special assessment for sidewalk, etc., was $513.28 and was due March 31, 1957. In January, 1958, I paid the interest that was due in the amount of $35.97. Using the arithmetic that a banker would use; namely, $35.97 divided by $513.28 and this quotient divided by twelve, the rate of interest that results is 8.4 per cent per annum. The assessment notice I received said the interest rate would be 4 per cent. How come?"

Malmstrom said he believes the rephrased statement is the real issue.

Real Issue, He Says Malmstrom said he agrees that Bacich's complaint is unfounded, but it was unfortunate the man did not put his case this way.

"My total special assessment for sidewalk, etc., was $513.28 and was due March 31, 1957. In January, 1958, I paid the interest that was due in the amount of $35.97. Using the arithmetic that a banker would use; namely, $35.97 divided by $513.28 and this quotient divided by twelve, the rate of interest that results is 8.4 per cent per annum. The assessment notice I received said the interest rate would be 4 per cent. How come?"

Malmstrom said he believes the rephrased statement is the real issue.

Disney Sets 2 Shows About Outer Space

Ralph Bellamy to Star in Dramatic Episode of Thomas Jefferson's Life

BY JINGO
Walt Disney's idea of man's first voyage in orbit around the earth in an artificial satellite will be shown in two Friday night programs on ABC-TV, Sept. 18 and 25.
"Target for Three," a story of three young idealists who are assigned to kill the hated president of a South American republic, is the new premiere drama for the next "Playhouse 90" season. "Alas Babylon," announced earlier as the premiere show, has been rescheduled for later in the season.

Here's part of the cast of "What Makes Sammy Run?" the 2-part dramatization which will debut NBC-TV's "Sunday Showcase" series: Sidney Blackmer, Diana Merrill, Larry Blyden, John Forsythe, Barbara Rush, Monique Van Vooren and Horace McMahon.

Ralph Bellamy will star as Thomas Jefferson in "Divided We Stand," the first of six dramatic specials on NBC-TV's "Our American Heritage," the Sunday night series starting Oct. 18. The story treats a little-known incident in Jefferson's life. Arthur Kennedy will co-star.

Jim Arness and his "Gunsmoke" sidekick, Dennis Weaver, will serve as hosts of the Ringling Brothers' Christmas circus show on CBS-TV Thursday, Dec. 10.

Harry Belafonte, popular singer and actor has signed to star in the first five hour special on CBS-TV, Thursday night, Dec. 10. The special will follow the circus program by one hour.

Former heavyweight champ Jack Dempsey is technical adviser for "Body and Soul," the first "Show of the Month" for this season, Monday, Sept. 28. He's supervising training of Ben Gazzara, show's star.

Jose Ferrer makes his TV acting debut in "Survival," a "GE Theater" segment scheduled for fall release. He won an Oscar for "Cyrano De Bergerac" in 1950. His debut story is about a white man and an Apache who fight their distrust of each other while they battle for their lives in the blazing heat of Death valley.

Former President Harry S.

Truman will appear with Jack Benny on Benny's Oct. 18 show on CBS-TV. Benny returns Oct. 4. Truman and Benny will be seen in a sequence filmed at the Truman Memorial Library at Independence, Mo.

Ed Wynn will guest star in the Nov. 11 episode of "Wagon Train." The caravan starts again Sept. 30. Fuzzy Knight, who vies with Gabby Hayes for having played in the greatest number of western comedy roles, portrays Burro Charlie, a grizzled prospector, in the premiere episode of "Man and the Challenge" on NBC-TV Saturday, Sept. 12.

Minerva Urecal, veteran actress, replaces Hope Emerson as "Mother" of the Peter Gunn stories — but for one week only. The debut show for the coming season finds "Mother" is wiped out by a bomb when she refuses to pay two hoods for protection.

Actress Millie Perkins buys "The Diary of Anne Frank" at a Paris book stall during her tour of Europe and the Middle East when the movie based on the book was released there. Miss Perkins plays the leading role of Anne Frank in the movie, which is scheduled to play at the Viking theater in Appleton soon.

Millie Perkins Visits Hideout In Amsterdam

Actress Has Lead Role in Film on
'Diary of Anne Frank'

When young Millie Perkins was singled out to play the principal role in the George Stevens movie production of "The Diary of Anne Frank," she had little conception of the acclaim in store for her. She recently toured Europe and the Middle East where crowds of people cheered her for her portrayal of the Jewish girl.

A part of her adventure was the journal she kept on the trip. Here are her first-hand impressions of her visit to Amsterdam, the city in which the Franks and the other Jewish people were hidden away from the Nazis in an attic:

"It was a sad pilgrimage for me, this visit to the attic. I had a big lump in my throat all the time, and when I met the real Miap, the wonderful Dutch girl who kept the Franks and others hidden and supplied with food at the risk of her own life, I burst out crying.

"Miap is a delight. She is quiet and not at all heroic. It's funny how you can never tell what people are by just looking at them from the outside. She told me about Anne and what a charming, spirited little girl she was, never in a bad mood and always trying to cheer up everybody.

Still Has Nightmares
"Miap said she still sometimes has nightmares about the day when the Gestapo came and said they knew she was hiding Jews up in the attic. After the Franks and the others had been arrested, she went to Gestapo headquarters

Phillies Trod on Faltering Braves, 11-5; Giants Nudge Cubs on Brandt Homer

Philadelphia Hitters Rap 18 Safeties

Milwaukee — It was the lowly Philadelphia Phillies' turn Wednesday night to trod on the faltering Milwaukee Braves.

The last-place Phillies mauled four Milwaukee pitchers for 18 hits in winning, 11-5, and sweeping the 2-game series here.

The defeat pushed the Braves four games behind the National League - leading San Francisco Giants.

Surrenders 11 Hits

Lew Burdette, who was charged with the defeat, surrendered 11 hits and six runs before he was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning. Juan Pizarro, Don McMahon and Joey Jay followed him to the mound and also were hit hard. It was Lew Burdette's 14th defeat against 18 victories.

Carl Sawatski and Gene Freese led the Phillies onslaught with home runs and each had three hits along with Wall Post, Sawatski, a former Brave, drove in four runs.

Robin Roberts went the distance for Philadelphia and gave up 10 hits, including Aaron's thirty-seventh home run of the year, but had little trouble after his mates built up a 6-2 lead with 3-run attacks in the third and sixth.

Four straight hits, including a triple by Richie Ashburn, marked the third inning rally. Sawatski's 3-run homer led the charge in the uprising in the sixth. The Phillies added another run on Freese's homer, his 20th, in the seventh and poured it on in the eighth with four more. Roberts is 12-15 this year.

Tiger Hands Armstrong 1st Pro Loss

Camden, N. J. — Unranked Dick Tiger, the British Empire champion, has handed fifth-ranked middleweight Gene "Ace" Armstrong his first pro loss. But the optimistic Armstrong feels defeat has some blessings.

"I'll be more relaxed, and my future opponents might be less aggressive," he said. "I won't have a winning record to keep going and they won't have one to knock off."

First Defeat

Tiger's decision over Armstrong in their 10-round nationally televised fight Wednesday night at Convention hall was Armstrong's first defeat in 18 fights.

Tiger, an inside fighter who relied almost exclusively on a left hook, knocked Armstrong down in the third round. It was the first knockdown of Gene's career.

From then on Tiger, 30, had the upper hand and he staggered the 27-year-old Armstrong several times.

Braves Get .250 Hitter DeMerit

Milwaukee — Outfielder John DeMerit, former University of Wisconsin star, was recalled by the Milwaukee Braves Wednesday from Jacksonville, Fla., of the Class A South Atlantic league.

DeMerit was signed, by Milwaukee in 1957 for a bonus reportedly around the $75,000 mark. He batted .250 for Jacksonville and had 12 home runs this year.

Yesterday's Stars

Shern Lollar, White Sox, delivered a pair of 3-run doubles in the first game and added an RBI single in an 11-run nightcap rally for 7-3 and 11-5 sweeps over the Tigers.

Garry Bell, Indians, gave up five hits and one run in nine innings of relief for 6-3 decision over the A's.

NOTES and NOTIONS

What we feared might happen in the "Zorro" Versalles case has come to pass. Versalles is now a spot player and infrequent starter for Washington's Nats.

"Cookie" Lavagetto is quoted in the Sporting News as saying, "He (Versalles) has a lot of potential, but it's unfair to the kid to stick him in against big league pitching right now. I think he'll develop all right, but he has to learn his trade."

Quite right, "Cookie," that's what some of us have been trying to tell you all along. Foxes' officials informed the Versalles Senators by phone at the time of the Versalles call-up that "Zorro" wasn't quite ready for the herculean jump to the majors. In this space, I questioned the advisability of the decision, expressing the apprehension that "Zorro" might be moving up too fast and that a premature promotion could permanently ruin the lad's confidence. (Washington, we said, could have taken a good look at him and given him some experience after the close of the 3-I league season). The Senators, who were grasping at straws at the time of their big losing streak, had to learn the hard way.

Marion Ladewig, just about the biggest name in women's bowling, is scheduled to appear at Hahn's alleys Oct. 8, according to word from the bowling goods manufacturer for whom she gives exhibitions.

A Madison sports columnist says this is likely the last year of coaching at Fort Atkinson High school for Claude Radtke, one-time Lawrence college great. The reason was that Radtke is in line for the football coaching job at Lawrence. We asked Vike Head Coach Bernie Heselson about this. Bernie says he has no plans for leaving or retiring.

Coe college, which will defend its Midwest conference football crown this fall, has received a few bits of bad news. Sophomore Gary Bean, figured on as the No. 2 quarterback, notified Coach Wallo Schwank he is unable to report for football. Two good sophomore guard prospects—John Arnold and Barry Zook—have also been lost to the team.

The Des Moines baseball club, whose 3-I league attendance has more than doubled its class A Western league gate of last year, is displaying a handsome new trophy. It has officially won the Sporting News' award for being the first Class B team to exceed its 1958 attendance.

How would you like to be in Al Reed's coaching shoes at Green Bay East? Always-tough Premontre, the Red Devils season-opening foe, has a head start, practice-wise, of nearly three weeks on East.

Only six of Purdue's 86 football candidates live in Indiana, according to some figures we saw recently. And, 46 of the 59 Iowa Hawkeye squad members are from out of state. In contrast, is the University of Wisconsin squad, which boasts 37 home-grown players out of 64.

Senators to Sell Chattanooga Farm Club at Season's End

Washington — The Washington Senators said Wednesday they will sell their top farm club, the Class AA Southern association Chattanooga Lookouts, at the end of the current baseball season.

The announcement was made by Calvin Griffith, president of the Senators, who have had the Chattanooga club in their farm system for 30 years.

Redlegs Trim Pirates Twice, 6-3 and 2-1

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's Pirates finally have stumbled in that National league pennant race, stubbing their toes on a club they've walked all over this season.

The Cincinnati Reds, who had won only five of 16 from Pittsburgh, jolted the fourth-place Pirates twice with a 6-3 and 2-1 sweep in a two-night doubleheader Wednesday.

A 3-run homer by Willie Jones won the opener, ending the Pirates' latest winning string at five. Then Don Newcombe outdueled Bob Friend in the second game.

5 Games Back

That spilled Pittsburgh five games behind San Francisco's first-place Giants, who defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, on Jackie Brandt's ninth-inning homer. Second-place Los Angeles stayed within 14 games of the lead by beating St. Louis, 9-6, after trailing by 5.

Free Team Pictures

Foxes Slate 'McKeon,' 'Player Award' Nights

Glossy print team pictures of the 1959 Fox Cities Foxes will be passed out free as long as they last to all paid customers at Friday and Saturday nights' Fox Cities-Green Bay games at Goodland field. The club has several thousand pictures available.

Game time Friday is 8:30 to allow people to attend the contest after doing their shopping.

Saturday night will be "Jack McKeon night" with the Foxes' pilot receiving gifts from the club and merchants before the game.

Player awards night will be held Monday with trophies going to the outstanding pitcher, the best team player, the most valuable player and the winner of the most popular player contest. The presentations will be made before the Foxes-Bluejays tilt, the season finale.

Sunday afternoon's exhibition game matching the Foxes and Little Chute-Kimberly will not be played if the Foxes haven't yet been mathematically eliminated from the Three-I league second round race. The game is slated for 2 p.m. at Goodland field.

If played, 65 per cent of the gate will go to Foxes players themselves, and 35 per cent will go to the L-C-K club.

Foxes' Business Manager Bob Willis appealed to fans today to back the club in its final home games so that the 1960 season can be started on a solid financial footing.

"Let's show the team we appreciate their great second round play," he said.

14 Lettermen are Among Vikes' 26 Grid Candidates

Heselson Lauds Condition and Improvement of Club's Returnees

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Unaccustomed as they are to finishing last in football, Lawrence college's Vikings might just make a number of their Midwest conference contemporaries pay for that 1958 chagrin.

At least, such is the hope of Vike followers who were non-plused last year when their favorite gridiron gladiators became sole MC basement tenants for the first time in 19 years.

What are the chances for the 1959 edition of the Vikes to improve upon the 2-14 composite record of its two immediate predecessors and return Lawrence to the ranks of the MC's "feared" eleven?

Experienced 1st Unit

With the Vike's manpower pool again disturbingly shallow, their principal hopes for improvement lie with an experienced first unit (which boasts considerable talent at many of the positions) and the school's most favorable schedule in at least four years.

Only 26 players responded to Coach Bernie Heselson's first practice call Wednesday. At least three more candidates are expected by Monday, and there's an outside chance the roster could grow to 30-32. This number, only minutely better than last year's total, is considerably short of ideal for a college squad.

But with graduation losses slim and between-season dropouts less than has recently been the case, the team has experience at every position. Fourteen lettermen will bulwark the team, and two others (Mark Rodman and Bob Pihl)

Two Freshmen

Two freshmen are trying out at the position—Andy Cvercko, the Northwestern ace who started out as an offensive linemen and then was shifted, and Ed Buckingham of Minnesota who has shown promise at times. Norm Masters, an offensive tackle, also can play on defense.

There are three other defensive linemen—ends Nate Borden, Bill Quinlan and Jim Temp.

Lombardi now has cut three Packer veterans in the last seven days. Al Carmichael, who was starting on his

Maestri Notches 11th Victory; Nate Oliver Powers 3-Run Homer Against Former Mates

Green Bay — The Fox Cities Foxes blasted Green Bay, 15-7, Wednesday night to stretch their winning streak to seven straight and to remain in the second-round pennant race.

In setting a new team winning streak record, the Foxes gained sole hold of second place, 34 games behind Des Moines (which beat Lincoln). The Foxes also moved into a fourth place tie with Lincoln in the over-all standings, which determine the Three-I league's split of prize money.

Winning pitcher Hector Maestri and former Bluejay Nate Oliver paced the 13-hit assault last night, getting five safeties and six RBIs between them.

The Foxes will send Bert Guenther against the Jays here tonight in an effort to square the season's series at seven wins apiece. Strikeout artist Burbon Wheeler is the scheduled Bluejay starter.

The game started out as a pitching duel between Maestri and Dave Rammes, with Herman Villa's sacrifice fly in the first accounting for the only run in the initial four innings.

Then, in the fifth, the Foxes made it 3-0 on singles by Oliver, Maestri and Phil Condu and a balk.

The Jays tied it in their half of the fifth on a triple by George Scott, a double by Doug Camilli and singles by Bob Parker, Bill Bevels and Don Williams.

Foxes Score 8

The Foxes chased across eight runs to blow the game open in the sixth. They loaded the bases on singles by Jack Feller and Ben Sinequfield and an error by Scott. Maestri plated two mates with a

U. S. Establishes 20 of 23 New Pan-Am Games Track Marks

Emphasis at Chicago Swings to Swimming, Basketball, Boxing

BY JERRY LISKA
Chicago — It was all over except for loud huzzahing in track and field competition, but the United States continued its merry gold medal-winning way in the third Pan-American games today with the emphasis on swimming and basketball.

Now owning a staggering total of 45 gold medals for the Western hemisphere athletic carnival which opened last Friday, Uncle Sam's power-laden forces also have a chance at four boxing championships tonight.

The U. S. track and field contingent, flexing strong muscles in a tuneup for the 1960 Olympic games in Rome, wound up competition in Soldier field Wednesday with 18 of 22 gold medals in the men's division and 8 of 10 in women's activity.

Coach "Chick" Werner's track squad accounted for 15 of 17 new Pan-Am records, while the women of Coach Edward Temple produced five of six new meet marks.

Kerr Triumphs
The only Latin Americans to crack the U. S. monopoly were Argentina's Oswaldo Suarez in the 10,000-meter run; the West Indies' George Kerr, a Big Ten champion from Illinois, who won the 400-meter run; the "Windies" 1,600-meter relay team, anchored by Kerr; and defending champion Adhemar da Silva of Brazil in the hop, step and jump.

Wednesday's closing session produced four gold medals in men's track and one in women's competition, a new Pan-Am record resulting in each case.

This country's first marathon victory in Olympic or Pan-Am effort since 1908 was fashioned by 125-pound John Kelley, Groton, Conn., English teacher, in the excellent time of 2:27:54.2.

1,500-Meter Title
The 1,500-meter title went to Dryol Burleson, Cottage Grove, Ore., as he paced a 1-2-3 U. S. sweep with a games record of 3:49.1. The U. S. men's and women's 400-meter relay teams won 1:40.4 and :46.6, a new meet mark. The javelin title went to Buster Quist of Albuquerque, N. M., with a record toss of 231 feet, 31 inches.

Nancy Ramey, 19, Mercer Island, Wash., broke her own world 100-meter butterfly record with a 1:09.1 clocking.

seventh year, was dispatched last week in Portland, Ore., and is now trying out in Canada. Al Romine, who shifted between end and defensive halfback in the last three years here, was cut Wednesday.

Remember Ollie Spencer? ... and Ken Russell?

Spencer was traded to the Lions for Russell when Ollie didn't want to leave the Detroit area for business reasons. Russell came to Green Bay, took part in about five practices and quit camp. He wound up in the Cleveland Brown camp but left after a few days with a shoulder injury.

Now Russell shows up at Detroit. So the lions have two former Packers at offensive right tackle.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell has ruled that the Lions owe the Packers something or somebody, which means a draft choice or a player.

Maybe all of this is a blessing in disguise for the Packers. Offensive Line Coach Bill Austin shifted Forrest Gregg from left guard-tackle ox to right tackle to fill the hole vacated by Spencer and Russell. And that big Gregg has been terrific in the new spot.

Remark of the week: One of the players was looking for a drink of water during practice the other day. Property Chief "Dad" Braisher snickered: "Water? water's been put out on waivers." Water is taboo during practice.

Dallas Baseball Club To Lose Over $85,000
Dallas, Tex. — The owner of Dallas' American association baseball club says his loss this season will be at least $85,000.

It is the second straight year for a baseball financial loss for the wealthy Dallas contractor, J. W. Bateson. He said he dropped from $60,000 to $100,000 last year when Dallas was in the Texas league.

Dallas operates without a major league hookup.

Burdette held the Phillies hitless in the first two innings and got the first two men out in the third before he began to falter.

Milwaukee got one run back in their half of the third on Burdette's triple and Billy Bruton's sacrifice fly and cut the margin to 3-2 in the fifth on Frank Torre's double and Del Crandall's single.

Sawatski's seventh homer with two men on base sent Burdette to the showers in the sixth and gave the Phillies a 6-2 lead. Milwaukee cut it to 6-4 in its half of the sixth on Aaron's home run with Eddie Mathews on base. The Braves got their final run in the eighth on three hits.

Dodger Mound Staff Sets New Major League Strikeout Mark

Los Angeles — Walter Alston, a fellow who would rank right up there with the Sphinx as a great talker, was proud enough to deliver what amounts to a major address.

It ran two full sentences.

"This is one of the fighting-est clubs I've ever had," said the manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers. "We're not wearing any pitchers out — we haven't got any great power — but we're always fighting back."

The occasion of this oration was a 9-6 victory by the Dodgers Wednesday night over the St. Louis Cardinals. It kept the Dodgers a game and a half back of league-leading San Francisco.

While the Dodgers were scrambling to overcome an early 5-1 St. Louis lead, their pitchers were working on an accomplishment of their own. In the seventh inning, when reliever Chuck Churn fanned Alex Grammas, he ran the Dodger staff's strikeout total to 897.

This broke the major league

Solid Defensively, Bears are After Offensive Improvement

Rensselaer, Ind. — In the NFL champion Baltimore Colts and the Rams within their first six games.

Halas has high hopes that fullback Rick Casares and halfback Willie Galimore, the crux of the Bear running game last season, will be bolstered by a couple of rookies.

They are 235-pound fullback Johnny Adams from Los Angeles State and Pete Johnson, a fleet 200-pound halfback from Virginia Military Institute. Another offensive threat is improved Johnny Morris, third in Bear rushing in 1958.

Halas also emphasizes that what he calls the Bears' "P.O.M."—players out—offensive setup will be much stronger with a corps of fine receivers.

He is high on an array of such offensive ends as veterans Harlon Hill, Bill McColl, Jim Dooley and Bob Jewitt, and rookies Willard Deweall of Southern Methodist, John Aventura of Indiana, Tony Carcatera of Elon College in North Carolina, and Bob Coronado of College of the Pacific.

"We also have three fine quarterbacks in Ed Brown, Zeke Bratkowski and Rudy Bukich," said Halas.

Ray Matthews Moved to End By Steelers

Cardinals Trade Bob Konovsky To Philadelphia

By The Associated Press
Pittsburgh's "Buddy" Parker, a bold coach with a bold quarterback, will test a gamble in Friday night's exhibition game with the National Football league champion Baltimore Colts.

In Bobby Layne, Parker has a passer who can and will throw for the long game anytime the Steelers can spring a receiver. But Parker needs another downfield receiver to team with speedy, sure-handed end Jimmy Orr on the long pass patterns.

Stays in Tight
Halfback Tom "The Bomb" Tracy can go get 'em, too, but Parker prefers to keep him in tight where his running talents are perfect foil for Layne's aerial shots. Orr's running mate, Jack McClair, is a quick-fingered end and dead on the short receptions, but he doesn't have the speed and shiftness to catch the deep passes.

Hence, the gamble: Move back Ray Matthews to end and use 3-year veteran defensive back Gary Glick as a flanker. Parker announced the lineup changes Wednesday.

Matthews was used to advantage at flanker last year when the Steelers lost only one game of their last nine—and that because receivers couldn't hold Layne's pass in the rain against the New York Giants.

But Glick, the 1955 NFL bonus choice, has been strictly a defensive man since he made the jump from Colorado A.M. He has been a steady, if not flashy, operator in the Steeler defense.

In Jack Butler, Dean Derby and Dick Alban, the Steelers' have three of the finest defensive backs in the league, so Glick can be spared.

The week's exhibition schedule opens tonight with the Philadelphia Eagles playing the Detroit Lions at Toledo, Ohio. The other eight teams are in action Saturday.

The Eagles today traded veteran defensive halfback Jerry Norton to the Chicago Cardinals for tackle Jerry Wilson and guard Bob Konovsky, former Wisconsin line-man.

Konovsky, 6-2, 245 pounds had been the Cardinals offensive guard for the last three years.

August Heat Fine for Crops, Not for People

If you're glad September's here and feel more like living than you did a week ago, there's a good reason. Last month was murder, weather-wise, as the monthly-weather roundup by A. C. Braun, of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company weather service, indicates.

"Exceptional warmth," to borrow a phrase from the professionals, combined with a rainfall surplus, characterized August weather, with discomfort indices at 75 or better on 21 days out of 31. A seemingly endless large mass of sticky, moist, misery-making weather from the Gulf of Mexico was responsible. Winds were not excessive, hitting 35 miles per hour only on four days, with a monthly peak of 40 miles hour.

A tornado cloud appeared northeast of Appleton Monday afternoon, Aug. 28, but it lacked a funnel, stayed well above the ground and brought no destructive winds. But it added to the misery of the day, with weather warnings out of the Green Bay weather station to plague perspiring housewives struggling with dinner preparations and wondering whether the kids were on their way home from swimming.

94-Degree Top
Temperatures reached the lower 90's on eight days, with a 94 degree maximum registered late in the month. Daytime temperatures fell below 70 degrees on only one day. The monthly mean temperature of 74.2 degrees was five degrees above the 50-year August average. The fact that this average was exceeded in 1955 by 5.8 degrees and a high of 99 degrees (that was the polio epidemic summer) was comforting, but not cooler company weather service, indicates.

Ample and well-distributed rainfall was nearly an inch over average. Of the total of 3.89 inches, two inches fell on Aug. 14, 15 and 16 to replenish soil moisture effectively for continued rapid crop growth. Cooling degree days above a 65-degree base totaled almost exactly twice the August normal, 239 versus the 147, which is a 30-year average for the month. The greatest increase was during the third week, when the temperature was 10.6 degrees above normal. By the end of the month the 3-month total of 899 cooling degree days was significantly ahead of the comparable 427 normal, so far as air conditioning requirements are concerned.

Good Crop Month
Growing degree day heat units above a 40 degree base to denote growing potential totaled 1,067, well ahead of the 892 August average.

People may wilt and grow limp when it's hot and sticky, but crops don't; unexcelled growth was evident. Highlights included an average to good oats crop, excellent second crop of alfalfa and rapid corn development to the denting stage in light soil areas.

Silo filling was beginning as the month ended, with abundant yields available. At mid-month a quantity shipping of excellent early cabbage was leaving Seymour by semitrailer for southern states. Fall plowing was underway by the end of the month: a good crop of sweet corn was being canned; gardens thrived without the need of much watering.

As a matter of fact, the combination of rain and hot, humid days was just fine for everything except people.

Prange to Begin Last Phase of Work Nov. 15

H. C. Prange company will erect along the east property line, Quasius said.

Mayor Mitchell referred the requests to the street committee for a recommendation.

The announcement was made Wednesday to the city council by Quasius Brothers, Inc., general contractors.

Third phase work includes razing the present store building at College avenue and Appleton street, excavating under sidewalks along both streets and construction of the last part of the new 6-story structure.

Take Seven Months

The work is expected to take about seven months, Quasius said.

During third phase work, the company wants to block the present sidewalks on both streets and use 13 feet of College avenue roadway and half the Appleton street roadway.

While the work is in progress, a temporary entrance to the just-finished parts of the new store building will be

Mayor Obtains Copies of Plans For Junior Highs

Mayor Mitchell Wednesday obtained copies of the original building plans for both Roosevelt and Wilson Junior High schools.

They will be submitted to the board of public works and the school advisory committee, he said, to determine whether the schools are constructed to permit additions.

Whether the schools are built to take additions has been an unanswered question for more than a year while the council and the school board have argued about buying a site for another junior high school.

The mayor said he obtained the plans from School Supt. John P. Mann.

Volunteers Aid Victims As Memorial Is Started

New London — Scores of volunteers are offering their services to look after the victims of the city's worst traffic accident and a welfare fund has been started at the Green Bay family's home church.

Three persons, including the widowed mother, were killed and seven other members of the Hoagland family were injured, three critically, when their car collided with another car at Highway 45 and 54 at the north city limits Sunday morning.

The Rev. E. R. Krueger, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, Green Bay, said today arrangements are being completed for a Hoagland Memorial fund. The church and the pastor will be fund custodians.

Strain Hospital Staff

Sister Wood, C.S.A., floor supervisor at New London Community hospital, where the crash victims are being treated, said the strain on the hospital's staff is being eased by volunteers.

The three critically injured members, Robert, 18, Ruth, 17, and Mary, 10, still need constant care, she said.

There was no change reported in the condition of any of the seven injured youngsters today. Wednesday, the three critically injured regained semi-consciousness for the first time since the accident.

Gray Ladies, Nurses

Sister Wood said members of the Gray Lady service of the New London Red Cross chapter, members of the hospital auxiliary and registered nurses from as far as Green Bay and Winchester are serving as volunteer help.

She said one nurse works in the operating room at the Oshkosh hospital until 3 p. m. and then comes to New London to help with care of the children.

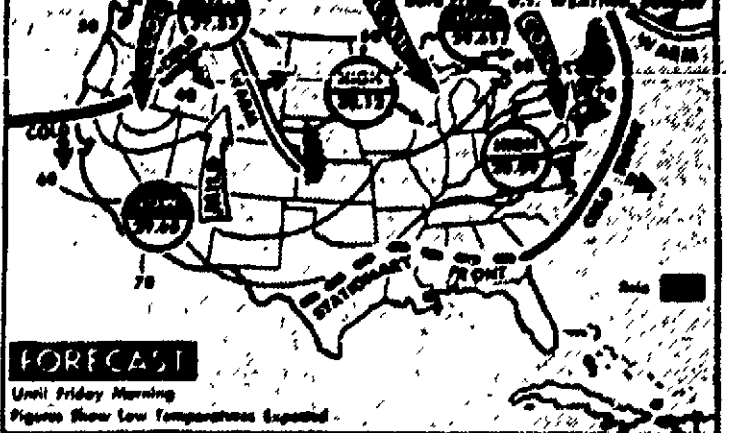

Dr. Gordon Melkjohn, a Lew London dentist and medical staff member at the hospital, received special commendation from Sister Wood. Dr. Melkjohn answered the emergency call for more doctors Sunday and then brought toys to the less severely injured children.

Memorial Fund

The Hoagland Memorial fund will be used to help the surviving Hoagland children, the Rev. Mr. Krueger said. Survivors have not been told of the death of their mother, brother and sister.

The Rev. Mr. Krueger said persons in Green Bay and New London had offered contributions. After legal consultation, the church will handle the fund in a segregated account from other church funds and the pastor will select a committee to administer the money to the best interests of the children.

He said contributions should be addressed to the Hoagland Memorial Fund, in care of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, 743 S. Monroe avenue, Green Bay.

Ford Unveils Falcon Model Economy Car

The Falcon, a low-cost economy car designed to compete with foreign models, was unveiled by the Ford Motor company Wednesday.

It is the second new car introduced by Ford in four years. The other was the medium-priced Edsel.

The Falcon is a 6-passenger, 6-cylinder, 90-horsepower vehicle, with a front-mounted engine capable of 30 miles to a gallon of gas, Henry Ford II, president, said.

Top Argentina Army Commander Ousted

Buenos Aires, Argentina—(AP)—War Secretary Gen. Elbio Anaya emerged as the apparent victor today in a sudden military crisis that threatened his authority.

Anaya seemed to have quelled the rebellious proclamations of many army garrisons which pledged support to Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero, ousted as the army's commander in chief.

21-city news conference by means of closed-circuit television.

The car has almost as much room as American passenger vehicles, but operates at the low cost, which has made foreign cars appeal to American buyers, Ford explained.

Temperature Skids Below 60 Degrees

Temperatures dipped into the 50s Wednesday night for the first time since Aug. 10.

On Aug. 10 the thermometer was at 50, and after that it was a steady increase to the sweltering days we want to forget.

Wednesday's low was 57 and the top mark during the day was 70. Clouds covered the Fox Cities most of the day and left .02 inches of rain in an afternoon shower.

The weatherman forecasts the long Labor day weekend will get off to a nice start. He promises sunny and warm weather for both Friday and Saturday.

The discomfort index was at 65 this morning, the lowest level it has been at in nearly a month.

Danzig grüßt seinen Führer!

AP Wirephoto

Adolf Hitler and Albert Forster, the gauleiter he sent into Danzig to prepare the way of the Nazi coup, faced each other on a street when Hitler arrived in the city Sept. 19, 1939. The sign overhead welcomed Der Fuehrer to Danzig.

Poland's Ordeal

War Comes, Warsaw Calm; Poles Expected Quick Victory

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS

Written for Associated Press

At 5:20 on a misty and cloudy morning — Sept. 1, 1939 — World war II started in our "backyard" in Warsaw.

A screaming siren lifted Elmer Peterson (Associated Press bureau chief in Warsaw) and me out of our beds. Then a terrific explosion rocked our office-apartment. Hitler had triggered a war that would change the life of the whole world.

The Nazi bombs were aimed at a bridge over the nearby Vistula, but landed on the race course less than a block away. (German bombs also hit an airbase in the Polish corridor near Danzig at almost the same time, as well as Krakow, Katowice and other fortified areas minutes later.)

We were shocked, somewhat jittery, but not surprised. For two or three days, as Polish and German troops mobilized and moved closer to the frontier, all signs had pointed to war. Blackouts had been ordered in Warsaw the night before.

Peterson and I began hammering out the first of a flow of stories as we got scraps of information from the war office, the U. S. embassy, and Polish newspaper friends. Days later we found many of our urgent messages still spiked in the cable and radio offices, and a basketful in a deserted censor's office. In the first few days Warsaw had scattered air raids, and there was only sporadic anti-aircraft fire. We saw not more than four or five Polish planes take the air against the bombers, and only a half-dozen attackers shot down.

Destruction of Poland was Hitler's first order of business as he started World war II 20 years ago. In this last of three articles on those events, a former Associated Press correspondent recalls the first attacks on Warsaw and the opening of Poland's prolonged ordeal.

The Poles were brimming over with optimism. Their troops were "fighting like lions" and would soon invade Germany. They had guns that would make it impossible for any Nazi planes to fly over Warsaw.

The poles were fighting courageously at the front. A crack cavalry unit actually did invade Germany, but it never came back.

No one in Poland seemed to know that the Poles, gallant and brave as they were, did not have the firepower, equipment, tanks, planes to stand up to Hitler's forces. By comparison with the Nazis they were naked.

Soon after that first bomb fell the Polish radio became the air alarm system. "Warsaw Concerto" was played over and over around the clock, interrupted only by major war news or air raid alarms.

Terrible Confusion

The terrible confusion caused by the alarms and attacks and the ever-growing number of persons who were leaving Warsaw for safer country areas made it extremely difficult to move about the barricaded streets, check on bomb damage, or get to see and talk to anyone who knew anything.

Spelling each other, Peterson and I were able to get firsthand information at the main railway station where bombs damaged hospital cars under carsheds and wounded a score of soldiers. . . at the east railway station where a bomb hit a troop canteen and killed 10 Girl Scouts. . . an apartment house and a row of small homes where 20 died in the rubble.

Then from somewhat haphazard bombing, the Germans began to tighten up their raiding pattern and the Heinkel bombers swooped closer and closer.

After one tour of bombed areas I went back to our second-floor office and began typing a story when I heard planes. I pushed the window open and looked out. More than 50 big German bombers roared over the Vistula river a block away and bombs began to rain down. Windows shattered, the floor shook, my typewriter began to dance.

Grandstand Seat

But I had a grandstand seat for the spectacle over the river, and I was fascinated by the diving, wheeling, screaming planes, the thundering of bombs, the sudden giant spurts of debris from hits and water spouts from misses. In the midst of the commotion the telephone rang — and I heard the welcome voice of Bob Parker at the Associated Press office in Budapest, Hungary. Since we could rarely get an outgoing call through, we had asked Budapest to telephone us every hour so we could get any news we had to New York.

As the bombers made a turn for another run I gave Parker a quick fillin. "Here they come again," I yelled. Pulling the phone to the end of the cord so he could hear the whines, screeches, and explosions, I gave him a running story as the Nazi bombers repeated their deadly antics.

When the Poles learned late on Sunday that Great Britain and France had declared war on Germany they went wild with joy, assuming that it meant a quick, sure victory. By the hundreds they danced and yelled and sang down our street to the French embassy until long past midnight.

Almost as their cheers died away the Germans launched six spearhead attacks along Poland's borders, pushing toward Warsaw. The Poles did not know, nor dream, that Poland would be prostrate long before any help came and never would be the same again.

Air Cadets to Get Flight Training

Senior cadets in the AFROTC program at Lawrence college will learn to fly while still in school, according to Col. Albert L. Betz, commanding officer of detachment 935.

According to a new contract just negotiated, senior men in the program who have enrolled in the pilot training category will receive instruction from an instructor at Outagamie County airport, and will take their ground preparation on the campus. The flying lessons are additional to the class program.

An Aeronca plane will be used for instructions and each cadet will receive 20 hours of dual time and 1½ hours of solo flying.

First men to receive training will be Cadets Karl D. Franke, Wilmette, Ill.; Daniel Schuyler, Kenilworth, Ill.; and Richard Pfleger, Nekosau.

Col. Betz commented: "This program will be mutually advantageous both to cadet and air force, for it will give some indication of basic aptitude for flying before the cadet undergoes the expensive and rigorous governmental flight training. We expect the new offering to be a stimulation and a motivation for our whole curriculum."

ELECTRIC HEATING

Let's Keep Both Feet on the Ground

If you are serious about heating your home electrically, see us and we'll do our best to see that you are not disappointed in your choice. An experienced heating man is needed to determine your heating requirements and recommend the size of panel or unit needed to do the job at a bearable cost. He can also best advise you how to prepare your home construction since proper insulation is the key to costs of operation. After all, an electric heating element is an instrument to heat your home, the same as an oil burner, gas burner, or coal furnace and its results are determined by the selection of your heating man.

Colombia Not Popular As Tourist Country

BY DAVID SCHAEFER

Colombia has never been, and is not now, a popular tourists' country. Most of the Americans in Colombia are here for a very specific purpose, and usually that purpose has something to do with oil or minerals.

The Americans who live in Latin America naturally have a much better idea of what the country is like than the occasional tourist who drops out of an airplane for a few days of sightseeing.

In Bogota, the tourist will visit the church on Monserrate, a mountain overlooking the city. He will visit the cathedral carved into the heart of a salt mine at Zipaquira. He will take pictures of Tequedama falls. Then he will climb back on his sightseeing bus and go back to the hotel.

Before we did any of these things, our host, Don Berry, took us for a 3-day, 600-mile trip over the Andes and into jungle of central Colombia. Berry, a surface geologist for Standard of New Jersey, he wanted to visit an oil well worked in the area when it

This is the second of two articles written by David Schaefer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Schaefer, Neenah, Schaefer and Donald Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Christensen, 117 Mayer street, Neenah, have been in Colombia, S. A., since early July.

The Colombian Lowlands are hot, swampy jungle areas inhabited by poor farmers and roving bandits. This settlement of thatched-roofed huts houses 12 people and a few cows. Corn and tobacco are grown in small patches and the tobacco usually is sold to buy rice, the most important item in the poor Colombian's diet.

We left on a Friday evening. It was just beginning to get dark. The first 20 miles of road were beautiful blacktop, and after that the road virtually disappeared. The gravel and clay roadbed had been carved out of the side of the low mountains, and rain had washed it into a series of ruts and holes. In several places the road was almost blocked by landslides. Around every curve, there were many, we could expect to find a herd of cattle or a stalled truck. The next day, coming down out of the Andes into the hot country, we found a road that was liberally sprinkled with crosses, marking spots where people were killed. The road came down approximately 3,000 feet in 15 miles of hair-pin curves chiseled out of the almost vertical wall of the Sogamoso River valley.

Colombia's hot country is the basis of its economy. Here, in the shade of banana trees, coffee is grown. Colombia is the second largest coffee producer in the world, and 80 per cent of its income is derived from exporting the "brown gold".

As we travelled deeper into the hot country the jungle grew thick. In little clearings

Thursday, Sept. 3, 1959 Appleton Post-Crescent A5

we could see huts that consisted of nothing more than thatched roofs supported by poles. The last lap of our journey was over a road that was built into the jungle by the oil company to gain access to their well site. There were very few houses and the road was bordered by large pools of stagnant green water. The geologists who had been working at the well asked ed if we had been bothered by bandits. We said no, and they suggested that if we didn't want to be bothered we had better be out of the area by dark.

We left the well at 2 p.m., and drove until 11 the next morning, when we reached Bogota. We stopped for a half hour for supper en route, but the rest of the time we were moving, or trying to move.

8,500 Years Old

One of Earliest New World Burial Sites Found at Red Banks

BY JANET SKRIVSETH
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — One of the earliest human burials ever uncovered in the new world has been found near Red Banks in the town of Scott, Brown county, by Ron Mason, curator of anthropology at the Neville Public museum.

Mason, an anthropologist, said the burial has been dated tentatively at 8,500 B.C. or about 8,500 years ago.

He and his wife, Carol, also an anthropologist, have been working on the site for several months.

Human Bones

An analysis of badly burned bone fragments found there showed them human. Because of the nature of the quartzite artifacts in the burial, and the position of the grave on what was once a sand bench of post-glacial Lake Algonquin, the burial has been classified as one of the earliest ever found in the new world.

The Red Banks burial is the only human grave ever definitely identified with the Paleo-Indian period, the American equivalent of the old world upper paleolithic period.

Only two other burials compete with the grave here. One was near Mexico City, and one at Midland, Texas. In neither case was the body cremated as at Red Banks, and there were no artifacts with them. They are believed ancient because of their association with certain types of soil.

Broken Artifacts

The Masons got about two handfuls of bones from the grave. Found with them were rocks and fire-broken artifacts.

The Masons at first suspected the find was a Scottsbluff campsite, but now they believe the Indians never camped there.

Further study showed the body was placed in a shallow grave lined with stones, accompanied by the dead Indian's personal possession. Then a fire was built over it. The Indian most likely was a member of a small hunting band and was killed or died near the burial spot.

Experts Excited

Anthropologists who were shown the evidence were "very excited" by the find, Mason said. He and his wife took the bones and artifacts to the University of Michigan, the University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State museum, and the New Jersey State museum.

Finding the grave confirms the theory that Indians lived in the eastern part of the United States as early as in the western, Mason said. This has been a matter of contention among anthropologists.

Only minor evidence of the Scottsbluff or Plains Archaic Indians has ever been found. The fact that they practiced cremation may account for the failure to find any burials previously, Mason said.

Artifacts Larger

A comparison of the artifacts found in the burial at Red Banks with those of Scottsbluff artifacts found in Wyoming show them identical, except the Red Banks relics are larger.

Mason attributed the discovery, as a combination of pure luck and knowing what to look for.

Burning of the bones caused them to last longer than if they had not been burned, according to Mason. The burial was on a sandy ridge, now about 40 feet above the level of Green bay. At the time of the cremation, it was on the shore of the lake.

Remains Scattered

The University of Michigan will carry out chemical tests on the bones. New techniques may permit a determination of the blood type. Not enough bone was found to make a carbon 14 test.

The remains were found scattered in area 30 by 30 feet. Mason attributes this to wind and rain damage. The grave was shallow and in an unconsolidated sand dune.

Northeastern Wisconsin already is known for another early Indian burial. It is an old copper culture burial at Oconto and is considered 5,500 to 7,500 years old.

High Blood Pressure Can Occur Along With Anemia

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My mother has high blood pressure, and is also anemic. People say this sounds odd. Please explain. I'm sure our doctor knows what he is talking about."

—Mrs. J.P.Z.

Well, I can see why people might think this is a strange situation, but actually it isn't.

Here's the basic fact to keep in mind. There are many kinds of anemia. Generally speaking, anemia means that a person either has too few red blood cells, or has too little iron (in the form of hemoglobin) in the cells.

One cause of anemia is simply excessive loss of blood. When that occurs, the blood pressure tends to decline. In a serious accident, with severe loss of blood, the blood pressure may fall so low that there is great difficulty in even measuring it.

Far From Medical Aid

In such a case, of course, you give blood transfusions. But let's suppose that the accident happens far from medical aid. What occurs, as the patient recovers under his own power?

First, fluid from the tissues of the body (remember that the body is largely water, with certain quantities of carbon, iron, phosphorus, sulfur, nitrogen and calcium) will move into the blood to restore the amount of blood to normal, after a bit.

At first, the blood will be diluted — because it will take time for the body to manufacture enough new red cells, as well as other ingredients.

This is only one example. In pregnancy, for example, the blood may likewise become "diluted," since the blood supply must provide for the needs of both the mother and the child. As nature increases the volume of blood, the number of red cells may not keep pace. This, too, is a condition to learn how to write to me.

Or, yet again, the anemia may not result from two small cents in coin to cover hand-a-number of red cells. The lining cells may be plentiful enough, yet be defective, lacking sufficient iron.

So much for anemia. Now a word or two about high blood pressure. As the arteries (like other parts of the body) lose their elasticity with age, it takes more pressure to force blood through them. Changes also can occur in the millions of very tiny vessels, called capillaries. Overweight often is a factor. Nervous tension increases blood pressure. A defect in the heart most decidedly can cause a rise in it, too.

But none of these factors is necessarily related to anemia. There are many — the number or quality of the kinds of anemia! Generally speaking, anemia means that a person either has too few red blood cells, or has too little iron (in the form of hemoglobin) in the cells.

Cultural Challenges to Faith Faced by Church

236 Methodist Leaders Attend Session at Wisconsin Conference Pastors' School

"More than half of earth is unoccupied by the Christian faith today," the Rev. Cecil Northcott, England, told his class at the Wisconsin Conference Pastors' school at the First Methodist church. His subject was "The Present Day Challenges to the Christian Church."

He stressed four challenges which face modern Christianity — geographical, cultural, political and theological. Dr. Northcott said, "Communism is a distinct threat and challenge to Christianity, while secularism lives in apparent harmony with the Christian ethic, yet secularism offers morals without religious foundations."

Pastors' Choir

Dr. Ernest W. Saunders, professor of new testament interpretation at Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill., was the speaker at Tuesday night's worship service. A pastor's choir, under direction of Dr. Ralph T. Alton, provided special music. Dr. Saunders spoke on "The Power of the Spoken Word," pleading with ministers to share the word of God with their people with devoutness, simplicity and persuasiveness.

Dr. Claude Welch, associate professor of theology at Yale Divinity school led his discussion on "The Nature of God," describing for the ministers various concepts of God, past and present, which would guide them in an interpretation of the Divine to their congregation.

In his class on "World Missions," Dr. W. Vernon Middleton led a discussion on "The Life and Mission of the Church." Dr. Middleton said, "We must be aware of the world and the nature of the world in which we live if we are to work effectively in it."

Evangelistic Force

Historically, Methodism has been a force in evangelism, but Dr. Middleton pointed out that "The church has become a field for study of evangelism rather than a force in evangelizing the world for Christ, and unfortunately, we are often addressing our message to ourselves."

One of the pastors attending the conference is the Rev. Daniel Shudo, Elroy, Wis., who is the first Japanese national in the history of the Methodist church to serve an all-Caucasian congregation. He came to the United States in 1951 as a student and will return to Tokyo next year as a missionary. There he will work in the Christian student center with Toyohiko Kagawa, Japan's most famous Christian. He will help Kagawa translate into English his life-time work, "The Purpose of the Universe."

A total of 236 Methodist clergymen from the two conferences in Wisconsin have registered for the 5-day session.

Regional Planning Hovers on Reality

less Hammond is retained to assist the town in its day-to-day problems.

Town of Menasha, expected to approve the idea at a special meeting before tonight's commission session.

Town of Neenah, approved the idea at the town board's special meeting Monday.

Kaukauna, Mayor Bayorgeon says he'll support the idea only if a local office is set up and if it includes Hammond either as a worker or director.

Kimberly, informally approved the idea.

Little Chute, approved the idea with little discussion.

Combined Locks, village board instructed President Daniel Williams to vote however he feels about the idea, probably in favor.

Appleton Favors

Appleton, which has been charged with opposing and hamstringing the regional planning idea by its insistence on more regional planning and less local help, favors the latest Schellie proposal without reservations, Mayor Mitchell said today. He added that it is necessary to "get the thing off the ground," a sentiment echoed by most of the leaders of member municipalities.

The main difference between previous Schellie proposals and the latest, other than cost, is taking over of the entire planning job by the firm. All previous plans included varying amounts of local office work, mainly gathering data for the overall plan, although one featured gathering data for Hammond's office, to prepare a plan.

During the Appleton council meeting, Ald. Austin Tucker made a spirited plea for the latest proposal, asking for self-sacrifice and elimination of "local selfish interests."

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider asked three questions about the plan, and Mayor Mitchell replied that he could not answer them.

Questions Plan

The questions:

1. What would Schellie's latest proposal cost if he were to furnish the same number of men for a local staff as the regional public works advisory committee recommended May 28? And, in the comparison of costs between the latest two proposals, wasn't the public works advisory plan asking for 5-man staff to complete work in 21 months? If so, who does Regional Planner Hammond show eight men working three years under that plan?

2. How many full-time and part-time men will Schellie have here during the three years it will take under his latest proposal?

3. How large a staff will be needed to put the plan into effect after Schellie completes his work and is gone?

Ald. Ervin J. Bogan characterized Schneider's questions as "asking how many pencils and paper there'll be in this office."

"We all know," said Bogan, "that this isn't going to be perfect, but we want it. We need it. In a short time, we'll be shaking hands with the neighboring communities."

Waiting for Appleton

"No one plan," Bogan added, "would satisfy all of us. Remember, a lot of them are waiting to see what we do."

Ald. Kenneth Priebe said he thinks Schneider favors the public works advisory proposal. He called for Schneider to tell how many men that would take. Schneider replied in great detail as to the number of men and their type of work.

"If I thought for one minute," said Ald. Homer Malmstrom, "that any other plan could be sold, I'd be for it. But, if we insist on our way with any other plan, we'll get nothing."

Ald. Roy Pointer likened the regional proposal to the so-called Barton plan for city street development, one drafted by Illinois consultants. "They didn't come back to guide us and look what happened to that," he said.

Council Failure

"The reason the Barton report was not carried out is right here in this room," retorted Malmstrom. "It's the council that failed to follow up the plan."

Schneider asked the mayor why it took two months for the regional executives to act on the public works advisory report (rejected at their mid-August meeting and the latest Schellie report was adopted within minutes of presentation. Mitchell said he couldn't answer.

The mayor told Malmstrom later that a $57,036 cost for Appleton was determined on the basis of 1957 equalized value and could change if scheduled visit there. Employees and junior officials leaned from the windows to wave as the limousine with the presidential standard drove up.

After that, Eisenhower returned to the embassy where he went into immediate talks with Italian Premier Antonio Segni and Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella. He apologized to the Italians for being late because of his unscheduled NATO trip.

The Italians remained closeted with Eisenhower for more than an hour and a half—the president's longest meeting here save for the talks with de Gaulle. Neither Segni nor Pella would comment as they emerged from the meeting.

"It is up to the president," said Pella.

Principal Problems

A U. S. communique said the conferees considered the principal east-west problems and "full identity of views resulted."

"It was agreed that a controlled and balanced limitation of armaments represents the most appropriate means to guarantee peaceful relations between east and west," the communique said.

It announced Eisenhower and Segni will resume their consultations in Washington immediately after Khrushchev visits the United States.

Andrew H. Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said Segni will visit Washington Sept. 30. Berding said Segni raised a question today about U. S. policy toward communist China.

"He was assured by the president that there is no change in American policy, that we are opposed to the recognition of the Chinese communist government and to its admission to the United Nations," Berding said.

TOYS ... PRANGE'S DOWNSTAIRS STORE

For an Unprejudiced Tax Discussion

Gov. Nelson told a group of Democrats attending a conference for party workers that it is necessary for people of Wisconsin to face up to their tax problems without "prejudice and in a sensible fashion." The governor said, "The trouble is, most people have preconceived ideas about taxes and anyone who differs from them is considered either a reactionary or a radical."

It seems to us that the governor is trying to open the way for a solid technical discussion of Wisconsin's tax problem without the annoying clamor of those who "know" that a sales tax is regressive and must never be considered even as a remote possibility in Wisconsin. The governor went on to point out that it would be possible to write a sales tax that would be so progressive that even the business men who have been supporting a sales tax would not support the type he mentions.

The governor said that there are four tests that should be applied to any tax; "Is it equitable? Is it reasonably stable? Does it produce the revenues you need? Does it encourage economic growth?"

Those are four good tests. Any tax that meets them reasonably well could be considered a good tax regardless of what it is named.

When the governor's commission reports on its study of the tax problem in Wisconsin it will, no doubt, give some attention to all methods of taxation. If one method should be omitted it certainly would be brought up by its advocates outside of the commission. What is needed is a calm, careful discussion of all forms of taxation so that the most advantageous forms can be selected for Wisconsin.

We have gone through two successive campaigns in which governors were elected without a full, fair discussion of Wisconsin's financial problems. This was true, largely because the opponents of a sales tax had built up a climate where it was politically impossible to mention it in a serious discussion. The result was that a sales tax was denounced on all sides or omitted from discussion altogether. Nevertheless there are, as the governor points out, sales taxes and sales taxes. The fact is that we now have taxes that are more regressive than many sales taxes. In previous talks the governor has denounced the personal property tax as most inequitable and unfair. No one can dispute that claim. Nevertheless, we have the personal property tax and it has continued on the books largely because it does produce a large amount of revenue which would have to be raised by some other method if the personal property tax should be dropped.

It is quite obvious that Wisconsin is practicing a great folly when it retains such an obviously unfair tax and refuses to consider any form of a sales tax to replace it. We think the governor has performed a real service for the people of Wisconsin by opening a way for a discussion of the tax problems that will not be diverted from its proper course by arguments which are based upon prejudice rather than upon facts.

Reception for the President

The enthusiasm with which President Eisenhower has been greeted in various European countries recalls much the same sort of reception tendered to President Woodrow Wilson when he headed for the treaty conference at Versailles.

Obviously, despite alleged disillusion with America's leadership during the ensuing four decades, Europeans are still hoping for some sort of a miracle to come from the United States. The myth of gold cobbles in the streets may be exploded but apparently this nation is still the hope of the world.

Unfortunately such an attitude indicates two situations which are not very healthy. A lot of Europeans seem to lack faith in their own leaders although many of them deserve better. And such overwhelming enthusiasm for Mr. Eisenhower also means that the unattainable is expected of him.

The aim of the president's trip is not, as probably Mr. Wilson's was, to ensure peace and justice forever. Such a hope is fantastic. The meetings with various European leaders, as well as the trip to Russia, is meant to reduce tensions, to inspire trust and to show that this nation is willing to go more than half way toward the settlement of world problems. It is hoped that the firmness with which our leaders meet Soviet demands will tend to deter Soviet aggression, but only foolish visionaries see the exchanges of visits as examples of sweetness and light or the dawn of a new era of good feeling.

When Mr. Wilson aroused the crowds to wild applause, the other allied leaders put off negotiations until the feelings cooled and some of the causes were forgotten. But the cheers for President Eisenhower should at least ring in Russian ears loud enough so that Khrushchev may realize that the feelings of Europe still turn toward the United States.

New Front in India

It is tempting for Americans to sniff "we told you so!" to India's Nehru as the Chinese Communists continue to provoke attack, infiltrate and reply in stunning innocence to charges of border violation. But this is really just another aspect of the world-wide cold war with Communism, and Nehru really has been a victim of one strategy of that war. The question now is whether he, and his country, can recover.

Ever since the Reds came to power in China, their maps have shown the disputed territory as part of China. India's formal complaints, with an attitude of pointing out an innocent mistake, were ignored. Part of this region has never really been in India's control since the Naga tribesmen have continued to wage guerrilla warfare against the Assam Rifles, a semi-military organization with Indian officers. As the Communists came closer with the conquest of Tibet, it was obvious that they would soon move into this wild territory.

India now is definitely on the spot. The Chinese have replied to protests with only an acknowledgement of border incidents but no admittance that their troops are in the area as if to stay. If they are not thrown out, they will come a little closer to New Delhi in a few more months. The maps again will be re-drawn and the Communists will probe for another soft spot.

Prime Minister Nehru, however, is reluctant even now to see the danger. "I do not wish to take an alarmist attitude," he said. "By itself these are minor incidents. But it is difficult to say what lies behind minor incidents."

Perhaps he might ask the Dalai Lama just how minor an invasion really is.

A New Blow for Tuberculosis

When Israel was proclaimed an independent nation in 1948, refugees began pouring into the promised land at the rate of more than 1,000 per day. Many were recent inmates of concentration camps. Others had been refugees from Nazi persecution and had been living in hovels. Others came from the slums of every nation where Jews lived. And 12 out of the thousand that arrived daily had tuberculosis.

At this time there were only 350 beds available in Israel for tuberculosis patients. Cooperation among the Health Ministry, the Hadassah Medical organization, the Sick Fund of Israeli trade unions, and an independent philanthropic organization, Malben, financed by an American group, set up the machinery to prevent what looked like sure epidemic conditions. Many of the new immigrants lived temporarily in barracks and tents. Medical knowledge for many of them was primitive.

By 1953 more than 2,000 beds had been provided for tuberculosis patients. Country-wide vaccination was introduced with emphasis on examination and preventive treatment in the schools. Chest clinics were set up around the country.

Last month a government owned hospital of 100 beds was transferred from tuberculosis victims to mental patients. The cuts in recent months now make only 750 beds needed for tuberculosis. And the medical organizations have followed up the discharged patients, not only to see that they continue needed treatment, but that they are understood by the public and that they find suitable work.

Tuberculosis, once a scourge of mankind, can be cured and controlled. The work in Israel has shown that it can be done even under adverse conditions and when challenged by sudden epidemic.

Privacy Broken, Man Misapplies Modern Technology

From the Chicago Tribune

Superior Judge Thaddeus V. Aedesko has drawn an interesting distinction between the law, in which a man's statements can be held against him, and marriage, in which a woman's statements may not be held against her.

The case before Judge Aedesko involved a woman whose husband repeatedly accused her of changing her mind. He would tell her,

"You just said the opposite a little while ago," and would thereupon produce a wire recording to prove his point, or to remind her of things she had promised to do, and didn't.

The judge decided this was an illegal invasion of the lady's privacy, and said, "It has always been a woman's prerogative to change her word and her mind." He ordered the husband — now estranged — to stop recording his wife's statements.

We suppose that Judge Aedesko is right, and that in the interest of domestic harmony there are many things said by wives (and maybe even husbands) that are best not recorded for posterity. But we cannot help but admire the ingenuity of the husband in the case.

He applied cold logic and modern technology to a problem which has left countless husbands puzzled and exasperated; and, what is more, he somehow managed to have the recorder running at the right time and at the right place. The most unpredictable thing about many women is when they are going to be unpredictable.

District of Columbia Home Rule Good Idea

From The Miami Herald

The senate has agreed to extend the privilege of the ballot to thousands of American citizens who have been voteless for 85 years when it adopted and sent to the House of Representatives a home rule bill for the District of Columbia.

Under its provisions the 825,000 residents may elect a mayor and council to administer their community affairs, and one non-voting member to represent them in Congress.

If the House approves it will create an unprecedented situation. The majority of citizens of the nation's capital now are Negroes.

They have the strength — 53 per cent — to control municipal affairs of the nation's political heart through the ballot box.

The continental congress never dreamed such a situation would arise when it started wrestling with the problem of a federal district almost from the first day of national independence.

Members wanted a meeting place where they would be free from local or state influences. They wrote into the constitution that congress shall exercise exclusive legislative control of such a district.

The battle over a site raged for years. In 1783 the Senate decided (with Vice President John Adams casting a tie-breaking vote) to establish a "federal town" at Germantown, Pa. The House did not concur.

Controversy continued and congress named Philadelphia as a temporary capital for 10 years.

The District of Columbia finally was chosen through an exercise in political log-rolling. Northerners wanted the young congress to assume the Revolutionary war debts of the 13 states. Southerners wanted none of that, but did want the nation's capital.

In a compromise, Virginia got the capital as a "federal town" on the Potomac, and New England got rid of its war debt.

Those who flocked to the new federal town found themselves voteless. Affairs were administered by a congress-appointed commission.

In 1874 Congress abolished suffrage completely and that situation has prevailed with minor changes ever since.

The Senate once before, on May 31, 1949, voted for a home rule bill. It was defeat-

Taxpayers' Unit Opposes U. S. Aid for Education

From The Allentown, Pa., Morning Call

It is not popular anywhere in this country to oppose appropriations or proposed appropriations by the federal government to education. Yet the New Jersey Taxpayers' association is doing exactly this in a campaign in which it is urging Jerseyites to write letters counter to the letters that teachers especially are writing to their congressmen concerning federal-aid-to-education legislation.

The association, in this matter as in others, makes the contention that the federal government cannot distribute money to any state or any institution in any state or any institution in any state, unless it gets that money from the people in the 49 states. And the association always points out convincingly that the amount collected from the states is far in excess of what is returned to a state, if that state be in the north, west and midwest.

Now the association is striving to rally its membership and the general public by a well-publicized letter whose content is just as applicable to people in Pennsylvania as to those in New Jersey. In this letter the association says:

"One of Washington's hardest perennials is the annual drive for federal aid to education. As with existing federal aid programs — under which New Jersey taxpayers pay an average of $2.73 in taxes for each $1 of aid received — this year's big school aid bill (H. R. 22) would be anything but a bargain. Our school districts would receive $33 million, against which New Jersey

Kaukauna Cofferdam Completed

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 4, 1880.

Kaukauna — The Meade and Edwards improvement is fairly under way. The first step in this grand enterprise, the coffer dam, 100 feet long, has been completed.

Today they commence the building of the race, 700 feet in length, which will make a raise of 32 feet head on the power. This is to be accomplished mostly through solid dock, making heavy excavations necessary.

The respective merits of giant powder and nitroglycerine are being discussed for the purpose. Capt. Meade is superintending this work in person.

The Buchanan Canal, or Kaukauna Water Power Co., are progressing rapidly in their work, employing 180 men and 62 teams and constantly demanding more men.

Thursday, Aug. 30, 1934

Three Appleton families, Mr. and Mrs. I. Bahcall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bahcall and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rosenzweig attended the first annual convention of the Bahcall society in Chicago.

Dramatizations of comic strips from newspapers and of advertising slogans, and an original playlet entitled "The Broken Statue," comprised the campfire program at the last day camp of the season at Alicia park. Patrol leaders were Ruth Van Handel, Mary White and Marjorie Rogers.

A. S. MacArthur was the principal speaker at the Rotary club luncheon in the Valley Inn that noon. His subject was "American Citizenship."

Officers for the women's organization of the Presbyterian church of Neenah were elected. Mrs. Wilbur Sparks was named president. Mrs. S. F. Shattuck, first vice president; Mrs. A. C. Gilbert, second vice president; Mrs. G. H. Williamson, secretary; and Miss Minnie Gittins, treasurer and recording secretary.

Attitudes Change on ROTC Training at UW

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The swing of the pendulum in public attitudes as the years pass is nicely illustrated in an enactment of legislation that probably will mean the restoration of optional military training for young men attending the University of Wisconsin.

Wyngaard

Only a generation ago such an enactment would have caused a riotous stir. When this reporter started attending public affairs at the capitol, in the middle 1930s, there was scarcely any local public issue that excited as much controversy and publicity as the periodical struggles involving compulsory or optional ROTC instruction on the campus.

Some of the favorite legends of middle-aged reporters and aging politicians of today relate to the purple oratory and passionate divisions of those days on that issue.

Yet this year the legislature adopted a bill to restore the student's choice in the matter with scarcely a ripple of argument. When the other day the governor signed it into law, the event got barely a notice in the newspapers.

WHAT HAPPENED?

There are several evident reasons for the strange adjustment in public attitudes on the question.

In the first place the political atmosphere on the campus has changed.

In the late 1920s and during most of the 1930s it was the test of the liberal among the students to stand opposed to ROTC.

Radicals, self-conscious pacifists and many of the youthful publicity seekers used to enjoy baiting the un-taxpayers would pay an estimated $45 million."

Observing that New Jersey teacher groups are spearheading letters writing campaigns urging support of school aid legislation with an estimated cost to the nation the first year of $1.1 billion and rising to $4 billion in the fourth and subsequent years, the association's letter declared:

"This aid proposal is one of the prime budget busters that could wreck the attempt to maintain a balanced federal budget. If enacted it would add more aid programs to those which already cost our taxpayers far more in taxes than the 'aid' payments received into the state.

What can an individual taxpayer do?"

"Write letters, too!"

dergraduate officer candidates. They liked to carry placards into the capitol to annoy those legislators who occasionally took an interest in the issue.

There also was the occasionally earnest young student who found it inconsistent that as a student he was expected to wear a uniform while his brother back home on the farm did not. There also were those philosophers who thought that doing away with military instruction on the campus would be a blow for perpetual peace in the world.

All that changed with the onset of World war II when the legislature required two years of ROTC work for every fit male undergraduate.

This year the student association on the campus petitioned the legislature for a restoration of the optional system, without the parading and the hoopla that accompanied such proposals in earlier times. There was scarcely any audible reaction at the hearings in the legislature. When some of the shrewd legislative politicians amended the bill to require the faculty and regents to make the final decision, it sailed through almost as easily as an appropriation bill.

THE OUTLOOK

The action of the faculty and the regents cannot be finally predicted, but it is a reasonable guess that they will concur in the legislation.

Surely Gov. Nelson has given a broad enough hint in his public statement that reserve officer training "should not be forced on any student who prefers to devote his full energies to more truly academic activities."

There are more parents today, it may be guessed, who agree with him, including one father who had two sons at the university last year, both of them enrolled in ROTC.

The younger, a fine student, was enrolled under the compulsory law as an undergraduate. The other enrolled voluntarily in the advanced department. The first resented it, regarded the experience as a costly and useless interference with his primary academic pursuits. The ordinary selective service rules suit him fine. The other was an enthusiastic cadet and would have enlisted if the political argument about the system or the statute requiring his attendance had never been conceived and enacted.

Motel Proves Itself Plush Pooch's Place

Annapolis, Md. —(AP) — For the pooch who wants a plush place to put his paws, you can't beat a motel near Annapolis.

It not only provides free dog food but there's a "recreation area" as well, furnished with fire plugs.

New Brunswick, N. J. —(AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ferguson no doubt have the cheapest food bill of any dog owner in town.

Rex, their 9-year-old Eskimo dog, spurns meat, instead thrives on ice cream and spaghetti.

Fairfax, Okla. —(AP) — Motorist Joseph Scroggins was only slightly hurt when his car turned over and pinned him in the wreckage. But he was extremely anxious for rescue. He was pinned on top of a snake. The snake died.
